

The Nautilus

1929

Published Annually
by The Senior Class of Jefferson High School
Lafayette, Indiana

Dedication

We, the staff of the nineteen hundred and twenty-nine Nautilus, in the name of the Senior Class, hereby dedicate this seventeenth volume to Miss Wilma Fletemeyer who, we believe, is the embodiment of the spirit of hearty fellowship which the teachers of Jefferson High School bear to the student body.

Foreword

In this Nautilus we, the staff, have endeavored to give you a summary of the most important events and activities of the past year. This Nautilus is not the staff's book, nor the book of the senior class. It is the Nautilus of Jefferson High School. May its value increase day by day as the years go by!

In Memoriam

In the death of Robert Foster Hight the student body of Jefferson High School has sustained a great loss. All who knew Mr. Hight held him in highest esteem and felt the inspiring influence of his personality. His general knowledge and love for the Fine Arts instilled an interest in the finer things of life in all who come in contact with him. As he touched many lives his influence was far reaching.

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION

NAUTILUS

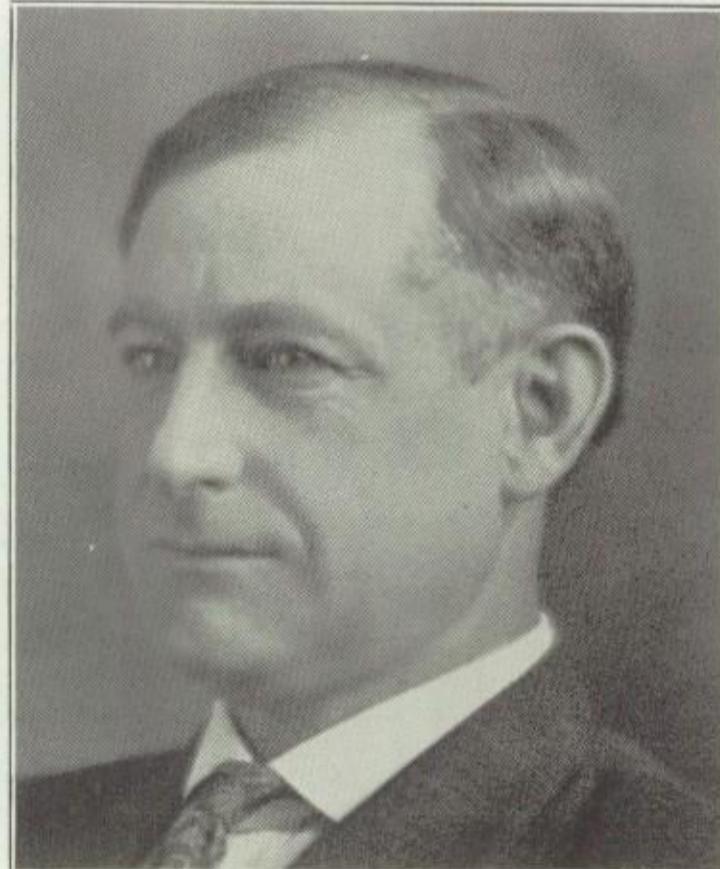

Superintendent A. E. Highley, A. B., A. M.

During the illness of Principal Singer, Mr. Earl Hinshaw became assistant principal. It is not easy to unexpectedly take charge of school administration but Mr. Hinshaw has won the heartiest praise and support from both students and teachers. The students have found in him not only a capable and efficient executive but also a very energetic leader in outside activities.

Principal L. E. Singer, A. B., A. M.

Assistant Principal Earl Hinshaw, A. B.

School Board

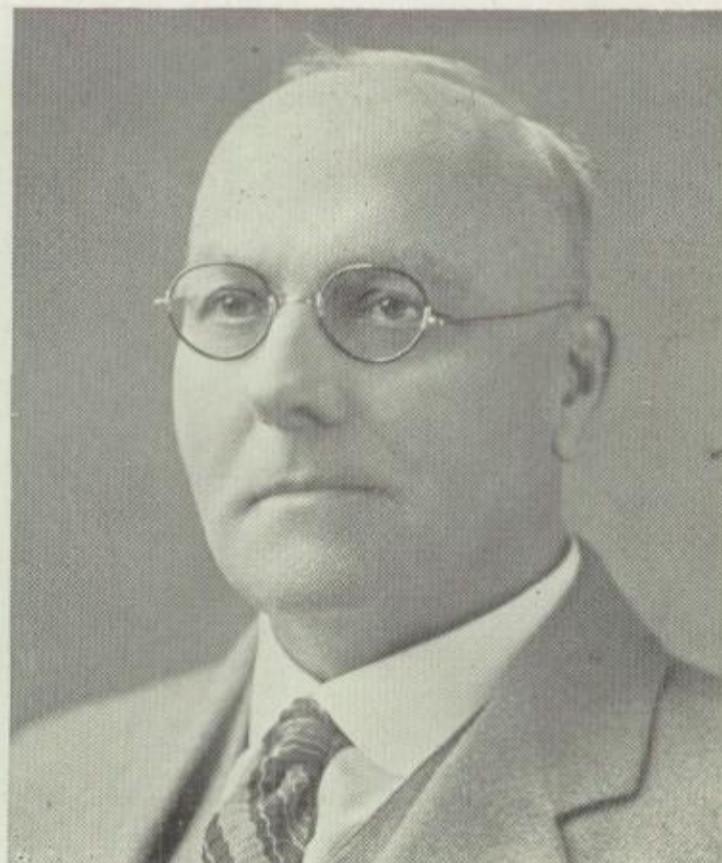

The formal opening of the new addition marked the accumulation of the efforts of an efficient School Board to give the students of Jefferson High School the best of everything possible in facilities. The school is grateful not only for the new addition and equipment but also for the careful and successful selection of the faculty. The members of the class of 1929 wish to express to the School Board their appreciation of the group of teachers who have given brighter visions and inspirations during these four years.

Senior Class Prophecy

Inauguration Day for the newly elected president of the United States, the Honorable Arthur Armantrout, March 4, 1961, dawned beautiful. In his hotel quarters the new executive, awaiting the momentous hour, thought among other things of his high school days and wondered where all his old classmates might be. "As soon as I can, after I get in the White House," he said aloud to his wife Elizabeth and their only son, Bartee, "we will get the old class together at a reception."

April 1 the reception was held on the White House Lawn. It had required a world search by his secretaries, Rose Schall, Cleo Aldrich and John Hawk, to locate all the members of the class. Finally all had assembled to the extent that they could come. It was my pleasure to be there and report the occasion for the Lafayette Journal-Courier and Central Press.

As President Armantrout took his place at the head of the receiving line, telegrams were read from those who could not attend. Herman Korty, Australian engineer, wired that he could not come through San Francisco (and he would come no other way) because of Mayor William Foster, who disliked all Australians, after being punched in the nose by a kangaroo. Estella Becker and Dorothy Bray, residing in Mexico and China, respectively, where they were counting the revolutions, sent best wishes. Estella was four points ahead. The debonair flagpole sitter, Eddie Rose, sojourning at the North Pole, where he is rumored to sit nine hours out of ten, coming down then for a friendly game of deuces with the natives and the Princess of Whales, radiographed his regrets. From Mademoiselle Mackay, entour, singing for the benefit of starving Belgian Hares, came greetings. Mary Belle Royal reported she was nursing a man who had been dead three years but who was being kept breathing by the modern method of restoration of Dr. Richard Ullman. Cletis Metzger and his wife, Wilma Timmons, were engaged in seeing how long a honeymoon could last, a Rockefeller Institute experiment. One member was lost, Gladys Small, who was last heard of as a manicurist for elephants. A mental message arrived from Mary Eloise Brown, the widow of Ed Ungersma, who, she reported, had died trying to arrive somewhere, sometime.

Assisting the President and Mrs. Armantrout in the receiving line were his Secretary of State, William Schaibley, and his Secretary of Education, Lucille Crapeau, the first woman cabinet member and the third person to hold this newly created position. Also there was Major-General ? ? ? ?, Culver graduate, and his wife, the former Betty Graham.

NAUTILUS

First to greet the reception committee was Harry McNary and family of seven tall and bright eyed children. From my position by the President I observed the others pass in review.

Florence Diamondstone was there, fresh from her work of trying to shatter the molecular theory into atoms. Geneava Reagan is now the Dean of Women at Vassar. In a group stood Williard Allman, millionaire manufacturer of the new white collar overall for fastidious students; Julius Urwitz, the discoverer of "Home, Sweet Home," a cure for home sickness; Senator Beryl Owens, of Lindbergh, one of the states created out of Texas; Velma Fox who had gained a name for herself through her clever designs of men's bedroom slippers; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pate, both noted for their coaching in the Robert Foster Hight Junior High School at Lafayette. Mrs. Pate is the former Wilma Meiser who before her marriage was partner with Grace Young in the manufacture of goatproof cans. The new partner, Mary Chrissinger, was also present.

Turning to my left I noted Patrick Joseph Michael Casey, the historical excavator, holding under his arm his latest Sanskrit grade card of the Jerusalem High School, year 5678 B. C., giving in detail the earliest recorded red D minus. A London dressmaker, Charles Riley, interested the First Lady of the Land and all other women, too. Ethel Weir is the dietitian at the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. Margaret Dodson, formerly head of the U. S. Shipping Board, resigned due to pressure brought by Senator Ralph Tully, of Indiana, and Representative Lovena Jones of Illinois, was talking to Amelia Weiler, interested in telepathy and considered by the dean of telepathists, Herman Snyder, as a valuable aide; Admiral John Weast, successful naval engineer, whose genius has harnessed the ocean tides; Emma Burkle, secretary of the Jeff Alumni Association, presenting the 1960 Nautilus in three volumes, and Wilma Weaver, a student-collector of old adages.

There also appeared Professor Mary Killian, of the Gary University who, having earned 360 degrees, solved the problem of getting back to her starting point in all her lectures, the only one of her kind extant; Robert Anderson, noted manufacturer of rocket autos for the correction of loose joints; Dorothy Bills, originator of a fluid that takes the fluff out of hair after it is washed and puts it into fluffy ruffles; Jesse Cundiff, a shoe model for C. Rittenhouse and Company of Cleveland; Professor Clinton Smith, associated with Sir Leonard McCormick of Montreal, successful transposer of brains, who transferred Nona Vogelhut's brain to Elizabeth Smith. Albert Martin and his wife, the former Dorothy Mae Evans, were present. Mr. Martin is a successful insurance man, selling life insurance to crocodiles on their keepers.

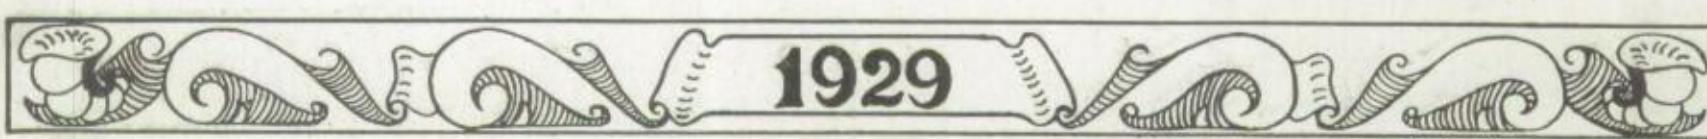

NAUTILUS

I noticed James Hassett, the first human being in the world to extract the center content of cornstalks and to utilize the shell for police whistles. Dorothy Babbs, whose magnificent voice is heard at spiritual meetings and at auctions, came up with Helen Smith, her associate in the business of auctioning live stock for chain farmers and with Thelma Overley, now known as an ad endorser in magazines. Two television artists were present, Robert Polstra and Edna Rohrbaugh, both playing leading roles. Jesse Ramey has become famous through her productions for televisionites. Norman Becht, whose speech at Fort Sumter commemorating the firing of the shot that opened the Civil War, considered second only to Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, was discussing with Josephine Shelby, chemist, her discovery of the Egyptian mummyfying process. Bishop Jack Williams, the dancing clergyman, delighted all with a few of his own intricate steps.

Behold Mary Van Natta, world traveler just returned from Senegambia where she demonstrated that rivers flow inversely down grade to the rate of their ascendancy; also the exquisite Anne Mavity, angling for a sixth husband—Maxwell Strong, artist-designer, having proved unsatisfactory. Following them were Gertrude Baum, Republican Vice-Chairman of the National Committee, who has decided that Prohibition is all wet; Mary Davis occupied in patiently teaching American language to the English; and Ellis Arnold, the owner of the University Farms, Incorporated, where is grown all the sheepskin for college diplomas. I also observed Francis Sullivan, famous radio cartoonist and promoter of tea fights; Marie Browning of the delightful monograph, "Why Will Students Get D's?"; Mary E. Evans, the popular ad writer for suspenders and airplane accessories; and Dorothy Plunket, co-designer with Albert Hilt, patent attorney, of a lighter that works, usually and perhaps.

There were George Comee, Biblical student, successful compiler of a code system of words that definitely proves that Adam and Eve were married by a justice of the peace instead of an ordained minister; Ferdinand Foltz, a Vienna teacher, living in a mad whirl of scales and sausages; Louise Nagel, maker and mender of broken hearts, charming as ever; Charles Miller, wholesaler of tents for camping and dresses for large women; Dorothy Reese, florist-athlete, grower of roses fifteen feet tall and 45 inches in diameter; Francis Page, the evangelist of world peace at this time conducting studies in why dogs bark at cats; Florence Kathman, now secretary to the Vice-President; Robert Myers, editor of Vouge; Nina Behringer, the discoverer of why rulers aren't thirteen inches long; Norbert Zahn, producer of his own musical comedies in Chicago, starring Harriet Orth and Charles Reitemeier, in his recent success, "It's About Time You Did Some Work!"; Helen Neumann, the teacher of anthrology in the Chicago Pineapple School; and William Cripe, maker of a salt that will not pour, NaCl.

And among others appeared Lorraine Cheltz, professor of geology at DePauw; Robert Mater, librarian of the Congressional Library; Robert Gagen, powerful heavy-weight champion of the world; Rose Miller still playing the role of Caesar's wife in the play "Julius Caesar"; Frank Schultz, the Einstein of his day (fewer people understand his works than did people of Einstein's theories); Mary Matthews, the joke editor of the Congressional Record, now a commercial sheet; June Gardner who has capitalized her name and is now writing pamphlets for eager gardeners; Maurine Geisler, the world's speediest typist using personal electricity in tests; William Schrader, known everywhere as a designer and maker of baby clothes; and Ruth Jones, with candy shops in New Orleans and points south.

There were with us Robert Smith, the pamphleteer, year by year producing proof that Jules Verne was a liar, a cad, and a person of generic obnoxiousness; Francis King, consul at the Purple Forbidden City of Hue in far off Indo-China; Nancy Bogan, publisher of tabloid picture newspapers for busy New Yorkers and also Emigration Inspector at Ellis Island; Rosemary Lodde, writer of books on etiquette, establishing that Emily Post did not know her knives and forks; Helen Hurst, a noted interior decorator, whose designs are believed to be the successor to the wave of cubism that has just passed; and Dicken Conner, the maker of beautiful dolls for beautiful coeds. Dicken is his own salesman, being the best talker he could find. Clella Lawson, the greatest stereotyped poet is making Eddie Guest's corpse sick northeast of the appendix; Herbert Schaaf who after vainly trying to syncopate the music of the spheres has at last built himself an estate from the proceeds of his lectures and named it "Syncopania." Donald Dimmitt is mayor of Delphi.

Came also Charles Masterson, holder of the Congressional medal for undergoing inoculation to discover the germ of spring fever and its relationship to faculty animation; George Ebbeller, who has put life into Latin, and Helen Jordan, bitter denouncer of the theory that life in the abstract is more pleasant than life in the concrete. Allen Moore whose superb acting in the title role of "Hamlet" is the talk of the season, was seen forcibly arguing with Isabel Chenoweth, lieutenant governor of California, in charge of the vineyards, concerning Marvin Post, the governor of Oklahoma about to be impeached. Gladys Clemens, the first woman graduate of the Davey School of Tree Surgery (although she can't yet determine the difference between a telephone pole and a poplar) was examining the Presidential family tree.

Other former classmates present were Sterling Dees, recipient of a half million dollars from the Sterling Silver people for the use of her name without her consent, and her attorney, Merle Perry. Harold Pedley, the coach of muscular activity at Hanover, Banker Ruth Klein, worth her weight in gold, giving each year a sum to starving Italians who hope to soon become millionaires, Barnard Felix, rabid Socialist with a record for jail service in behalf of the cause far exceeding that of Eugene V. Debs, and Ruth Jennings, the most daring aviatrix of today, using only motorless planes to make her many world records, were all busy plying Helen Ward, first woman Supreme Court Justice, with questions.

There were others: Paul Moser, firm believer that every one is out of step but himself and is proving it to every one but his wife and mother-in-law; Kenneth Goodnight, night club proprietor, collecting more padlocks than any one man, which he was selling to Dorothy Ehrhart, hardware merchant; Edward Grover, home from Arabia, where he is respected as a powerful shiek; and Helen Ewing, compiler of a dictionary with words of ten syllables only, for lovers of the first and second stages. Clarence Memmer, master baker, delighting in the most intricate designs, as a special favor baked the delicious nut bread served at this reunion. Geraldine Parnell, weather forecaster of note, stood gazing at the heavens above.

And there was Marguerite Gahagan, the winner of the Nobel prize for her discovery that the odor of Limburger cheese directed through a solution of bromo caffeine could be made to turn motors. Robert Hellwig, superb and graceful dancer, whose most recent partner is Evelyn Ehrhart were the first to make their way to the refreshment tables. Margaret Flack, a new Florence Nightingale and Colonel and Mrs. Donald McConnell (her first name is not Jean) were listening to Bennie Hinkle, the composer of sentimental greeting cards as he struck off a few verses. Constance Fogarty, who smiled her way to Fame, practiced her charms on Leo McDowell, science professor, signer of a contract for television improvements that will make it possible to know when your neighbor is about to borrow anything, from a hoe to a cup of vinegar.

Ethel Madison, the owner and manager of the public utilities of Madison, Indiana, and Madison, Wisconsin, and an authority on the Life and Achievements of James Madison, discussed modern science with Norman Brooks, busy trying to see if the Fords of Norway can be made to run like the American Fords which are now down to the last letter in the alphabet. It was rumored that Model Z was suggested by Louise Sylvia, who also names Pullman areosleepers. Senator Helen Kessener, strong believer in women being allowed to use their own names after being married, and having husbands turn on the electric dishwater, buttonholed Lester McClannen, whose Five and Ten Cent Stores, here, there, and everywhere, will sell you anything for a quarter.

NAUTILUS

With the last hand clasp and the last smile of welcome, the president turned to the writer and remarked: "Our class at old Jefferson has traveled far but what else could you expect of the faithful devotion we had from those instructors. Remember them? Messrs. Singer, Hinshaw, Lane, Marshall, Troutman, Misses Fleming, Young, Leiter, Congleton, and all the rest? Wasn't it a great old school?"

WILLIAM M. CROCKETT, Jr.

Senior Song

(Tune: Commencement Song)

As the flying shuttle weaves to and fro
With colors so bright and gay,
So the changing years of our schoolhood days
Are fraught with mem'ries that grow and glow.
All honor to thee, our dear old Jeff,
And to teachers so kind and true;
To schoolmates dear, and lessons too.
All honor to you, all honor to you.

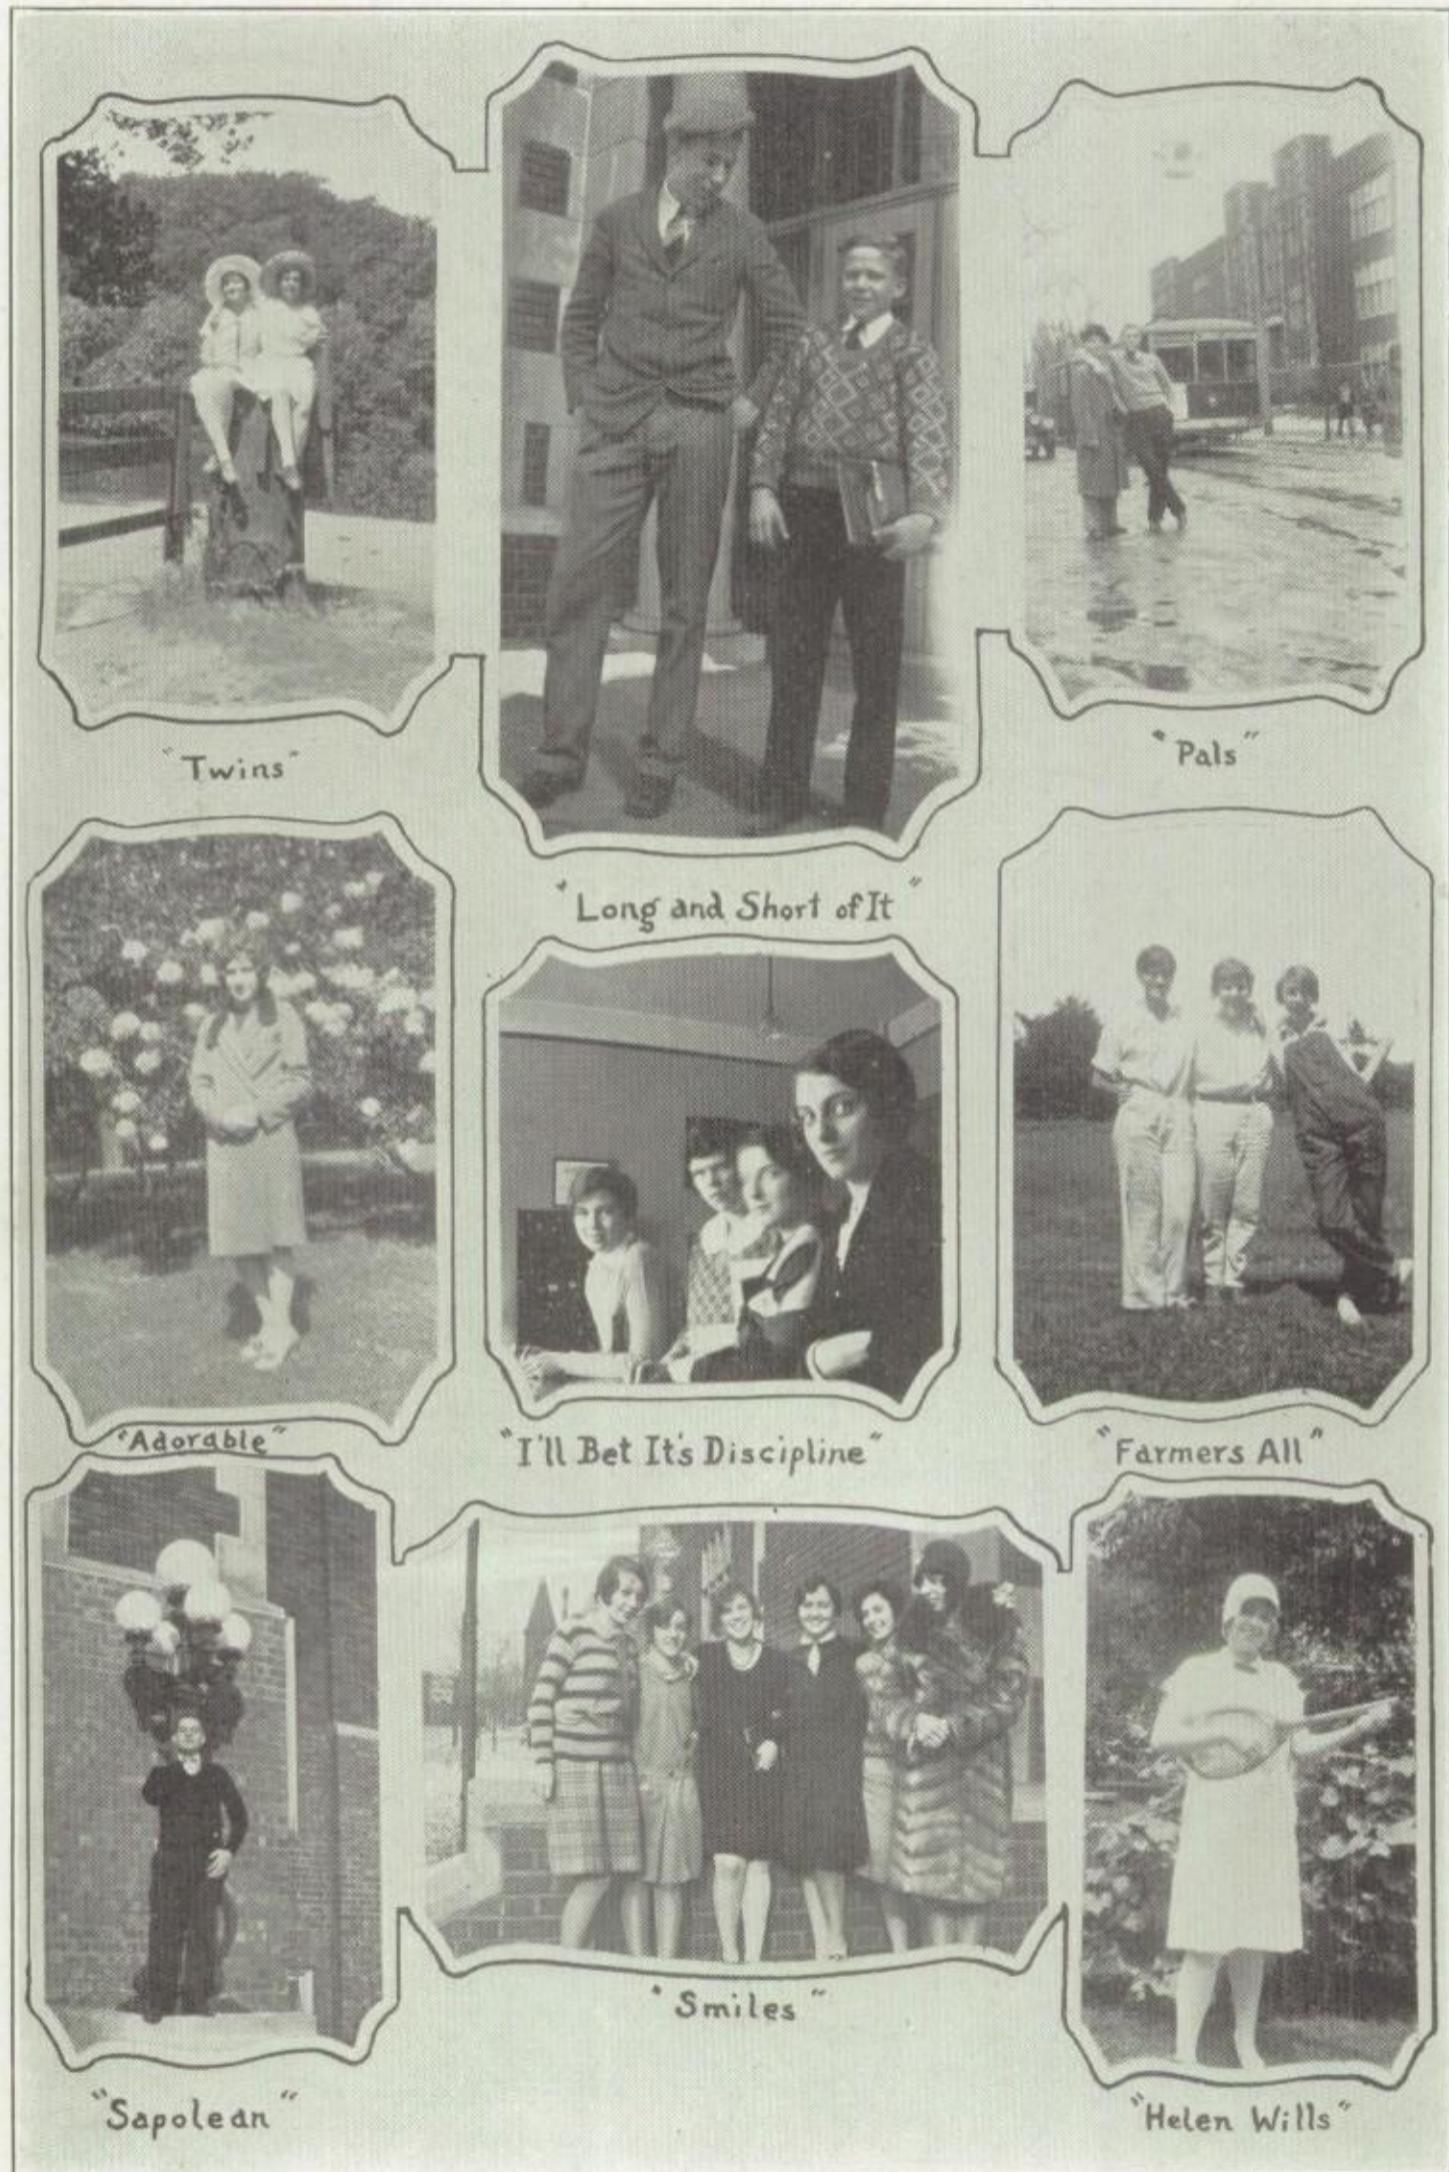

Chorus

So let us sing a glad refrain,
As the shuttle weaves to and fro,
And may we go forth to win honor and fame,
As the seasons come and go.

So classmates with mem'ries thronging,
And hearts filled with longing,
We sing our song at parting,
In Alma Mater's praise.
May every good attend her,
In all the future days,
So come let us sing our song
For the task that was ours is done.

ACTIVITIES

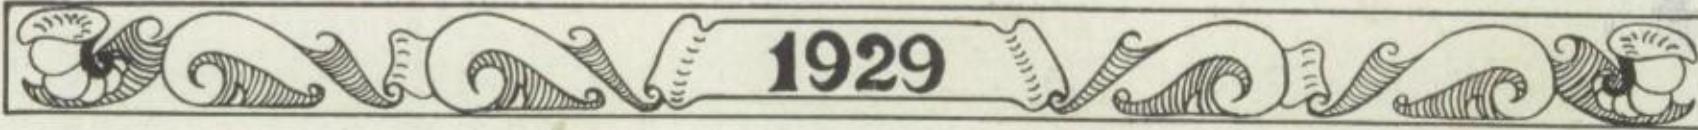

NAUTILUS

Activities of Jefferson High School

Education is of two kinds, that received in the class room and that which comes through adjustments to society in general and the personal friendships which are made. Realizing the importance of the later type of education the school administration has made it possible for every student to partake in some form of activity at Jefferson High School. Almost every department has some club which offers an opportunity for self-expression in ways other than that afforded in the regular routine of the class. A student need not be a book worm, neither need he be a social lion. Jefferson wants and has many students who are well balanced citizens.

The pages which follow are records of the hours which will be memorable through the years because each member has put a part of the best of himself into the activity, because of the friendships formed and the happy associations connected with the events.

HERBERT SCHAAF
Editor-in-Chief

NORMAN BROOKS
Business Manager

The Nautilus Staff of 1929 had as its purpose to get the book out on time and to give the students an annual that represented the true Jefferson spirit.

After a late start the staff developed into a hard-working group of students. The staff adopted as their theme a modernized version of the Nautilus motif. Also the staff decided to introduce a new type of insert which is very attractive. Those who were chosen for the more difficult tasks fulfilled them in a very efficient manner. Maxwell Strong and Ruth Klein who had perhaps the two hardest positions on the staff deserve much credit for their hard work. The literary section, society, athletics, calendar and jokes were well written up by the respective members of the staff.

Since no cartoonist was elected last fall Bennie Hinkle, Frances King, Dicken Conner and Glenn Wright kindly donated their services, and turned in many excellent cartoons. The staff also wishes to thank Elizabeth Bartee and Betty Graham, typists, and Miss Beaver for the services rendered.

The Staff has spent much effort in an endeavor to accomplish their purpose and hope they have given the student body a record of the happiest events of high school days.

The Booster

With the completion of the new annex in September, 1928 a new era opened for the Booster. At that time a printing department was installed in two large class rooms on the first floor. Here two large classes study and practice the art of printing and these classes now print the Booster in the school shop. The machine composition is obtained from a linotype plant, but the advertisements and displays are hand-set by the students. The fact that the paper is printed in the school by students makes it more interesting to the student body.

The most outstanding achievement of the Booster for this year was the issue of a twenty-page open house edition at the time of the dedication of the new annex. A special St. Patrick's day issue was printed on green paper.

At the time of the sectional tournament, the printing classes and staff took part in the publication and printing of a "Hardwood Special," an eight-page tabloid paper devoted to basketball. This occasion was an exhibition of speed. Papers were being delivered on the floor of the gymnasium thirty-five seconds after the whistle blew ending the contest, and the write-up, final scores and bulletins were complete. The fact that a score was made within less than a half minute of the end of the game, and that this score was printed in the first papers, proved the exhibition to be bona fide.

The Booster with the printing and journalism classes, is under the supervision of Mr. T. E. Conder, who has had many years experience in daily newspaper work. The Booster received fourth honor in the national contest this year.

One of the most active organizations of the school is the band. It has been the means of keeping up the enthusiasm and spirit at all the home games. One of the most outstanding features of the year was the introduction of the formations at the Manual-Jeff dedication game. Robert Polstra was the capable drum major.

The Boys' Advisory Council has completed its third successful year. The Council consists of a select group of boys who have as their purpose to raise the standards of the student body. Each boy feels the responsibility of this challenge and does his best to live up to the standards expected by the council.

The school feels the influence of these ideals, and is very proud of the boys who are doing so much for a better Jefferson High School!

Mr. Marshall deserves much credit for his leadership which has been an inspiration to the boys.

The Girls' Advisory Council is one of the oldest organizations of the school. It was organized in 1921. Meetings are held in the auditorium the second and fourth Wednesdays in each month. Since its organization, the membership has been doubled. There are about fifty members at the present time. Every girl having twelve or more credits is eligible. Although grades are not a requirement almost every council girl was on the honor roll.

The Creed

I will put my best effort in each day's task; I will not forget that poverty and riches are of the spirit. Although the world knows me not, I shall endeavor to make my thoughts and actions such as shall keep me friendly with myself and neighbors. I shall not follow the clamor of the world, but shall walk calmly in the path allotted to me. Thence will my friends love me for what I am and I shall make the world a better place by my example.

The Press Club was organized late in the fall by Mr. T. E. Conder, faculty advisor of the Booster. Its purpose is to foster interest in journalism among the students and to create a greater interest in all newspaper work.

The Press Club has drawn up a constitution which limits membership to only those taking journalism. Desired members will be initiated into the club if passed by a majority vote of the members.

The club meets the first and third Wednesday of each month during the school year. All meetings are held in the Booster room, except in cases where the auditorium is used.

Mr. T. E. Conder is the Press Club's sponsor.

At the beginning of the school year the Studio Club had as its members; Maxwell Strong, Dorothy Dykhuizen, Raymond Thompson and Bennie Hinkle. The new members are Edythe Jerls, Owen Fix, Carl Martin, Grace Talbert, Anna Margaret Ross, and Elizabeth Rush. Membership is based on ability shown in the art classes and on the respect shown for the ideals of Jefferson High School.

The decoration of the new club room, located in the new addition, has been an interesting project. The members are required to place some original work on display at the social meeting held each month. A color reproduction, "Treasures of the Orient" by Arthur Douglas Teed, was purchased by the club for the room. It is hoped that this will serve as a nucleus for other reproductions.

A Japanese exhibit sponsored by the Extension Division of Indiana University and the Elson exhibit were also projects of the club.

One of the most outstanding social meetings was held in the Purdue Memorial Union building where the Hoosier Salon was exhibited.

Miss Galloway has been the energetic sponsor of the club.

A small group of earnest members carried on the activities of the club, which consisted of a meeting each month and the promoting of the oratorical contests. The programs consisted of musical numbers and readings of an entertaining nature. The business sessions were expedited according to true Parliamentary form. The club officers assumed charge of the local contests to select Jeff's representatives in all inter-school contests.

Oratorical Contests

In the sixth annual oratorical contest on the Constitution, William Schrader began work in the fall upon his manuscript, and also upon training his "Tiny" voice in the auditorium. No other school in the county entered. William represented Jefferson and Tippecanoe County in the Tenth District Contest on April 19.

George Comee represented Jefferson High School in the district contest of the Annual State High School Discussion League Contest.

The Sunshine Society, Jeff's most democratic organization for girls, has carried on its custom of spreading cheer and sunshine to a high degree this year, as has been the custom in former years. The treasury has been taxed heartily because of flower bills, due to the unusual amount of illness among the students and teachers.

The annual Christmas party for the boys and girls from the Children's Home was necessarily dispensed with on account of the prevalence of illness, but the toys which had been provided for them were sent as Christmas gifts, and popcorn balls and Eskimo Pies for all were delivered on Christmas day as a treat from the Sunshine Society.

The Christmas basket Committee worked faithfully for weeks in preparation of the fifty-seven well-stocked baskets including food, wearing apparel and toys and books which were distributed among needy families on the day before Christmas.

Numerous minor projects, including buying clothes for several poor children, and providing food for a family at Thanksgiving time, in addition to the large Charities, have brought the Sunshine Society of Jefferson High School up to a standard unexcelled by that of any school in the state of Indiana.

The Cat and Canary

The famous mystery play the "Cat and the Canary" was the first entertainment to be presented on the new Jefferson High School stage. The play was under the supervision of Miss Emily Jane Aldridge, assisted by Bernice Galloway. A synopsis of the play is as follows: The six descendants of Cyrus West meet in the library of the estate to hear the reading of the will of Cyrus West. According to the will, if the heir named shows any sign of insanity another heir is to be named in another will. Immediately the five "would-be" heirs are accused of attempting to prove the heir of unsound mind. Many interesting situations arise. Only one person can be guilty. The "one" is finally disclosed after a series of startling incidents.

Ann Mavity and Glenn Greenwood had the leading roles. Ann had the part of Annabelle West, who inherited the West estate.

Little Women

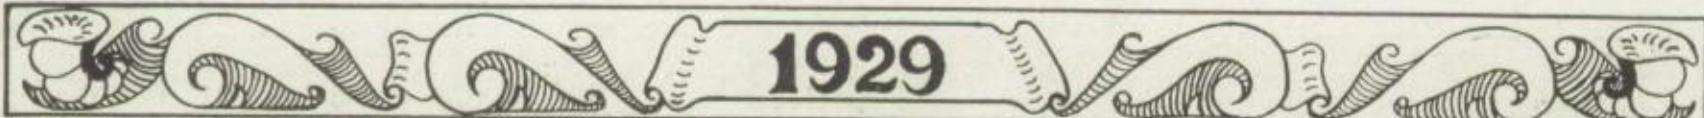

The dramatization by Marion De Forrest of Louisa M. Alcott's much loved classic, "Little Women," was chosen for the 1929 Senior class production. The departure of the father to the Civil War, the hardships caused by this, Jo's attempts to support the family, her literary efforts, Beth's death, the love affairs of Meg and Amy and the many touching incidents which occurred to the March family were vividly portrayed. Each person taking part in the play gave an excellent impersonation of the character which he represented.

The leads in the play were filled by James Hassett, who played the part of "Laurie", and Elizabeth Bartee, as "Joe". Elizabeth Mackay was given position of mistress of the wardrobe.

"Little Women" was coached by Miss Ginevra E. Thomas and the success of the play was due largely to Miss Thomas's hard work and unusual ability as a coach.

The 1929 Revue

An unusually good musical show was presented by the Music Departments of the Grade schools and High School under the title of the 1929 Revue. The bill was divided into two parts, the first being under the direction of Miss Rena Rice, and the talent being furnished by grade school pupils. The last seven acts were put on by members of the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs and selected choruses of high school girls. All the high school acts were under the direction of Miss Camilla White, and Miss Dorothy Babbs was the accompanist. The scenic effects and stage lighting for these numbers were the work of Brooks, Schaaf, Keller and Martin. Marilyn Collins in her tap dancing specialty was a feature of this part of the program, and showed much ability and versatility. The Hines Twins in a song and dance number were very clever and won much applause. Glenn Greenwood, a favorite of Jefferson theatricals, was at his best as interlocutor for the minstrel number.

Transitions

Day before yesterday some stems of brown
Met my eyes as I went to town;
Little, barren, brown stems so slight
I knew they had faced old Winter's delight.

Yesterday as I went along the way
Each brown twig had green picots gay,
Sticking on it everywhere—
Fairies of the warm spring night put them there.

Today such lacy, dainty bits of green,—
Verdant filigree bits were seen!
Scalloped in green the bush flaunted.
That Spring had duly arrived undaunted.

Poignantly I longed to know the secret.
Who can Spring's moving finger interpret?

Keep Smiling

Keep smiling as you go along,
And you'll be sure to draw a throng
Of friends to meet and greet you,
As you journey all along.

Your daily task may look a load,
While you go journeying on the road,
But just don't cry, the time will fly
As you labor with a song.

Some heart will be much lighter,
Some face will be all the brighter;
If you smile, you'll win by a mile,
As you aim to right a wrong.

Bats, Not Baneful

The humble bat is to me the most horrible creature of the animal world. My abhorrence of this winged beast is perhaps of some hidden superstitious origin, for to me it signifies unholy thoughts of ghouls and yew groves and horrid incantations. A child of the night, the creature darts from shadow to shadow, seeing, with eyes so blind in the honest light, dark deeds hidden from human ken.

Yet, science avers that the bat is a useful, cleanly creature, devouring insects in its erratic flight, which may never cease until the little beast hangs head downward from some dark cave or roof, for to fall to the ground is destruction. The bat cannot soar upward from the earth as can a bird, and, entangled in long grasses and briars, it becomes easy prey for its arch-enemy, the owl.

Eerie as in their aspect, cheiroptera are really quite ordinary and domestic. The mother carries her young with her on her hunting excursions much as a human mother does on a shopping tour. The tiny bats cling to their mother's body or ride in a small pouch provided in some of the genus. When the infants become too heavy, their mother weans them by simply dropping them downward through the air. Usually, they instinctively begin to fly before touching the fateful earth, and in a few weeks are as proficient in the ancient art of winging the blue as their parent.

During the winter months whole bat colonies hibernate in the roofs of caves or similar secluded places, awaking in the first warm spring days to bear their young and, thus encumbered, to hie forth in search of juicy insects.

So in mediocrity, lives and dies the ghostly bat. Knowing the homely facts of his existence, I feel that I could meet him, even in a dark churchyard, with an intrepid spirit. So does familiarity and sympathy conquer man's antipathy for the unknown elements of life.

ANNE MAVITY.

On Being Tall

It is claimed, and even admitted, that the taller a girl is the more dignity she has. Yet what maid of sixteen summers ever longed for dignity? Psychologists aver that normally woman's desire is to appear attractive, clever, and above all, feminine. It is not humanly possible to do this successfully and still be built on the elongated proportions of an up-ended ocean liner. Of course this is gross exaggeration, yet such is often my vague impression when surrounded by more fortunate classmates.

NAUTILUS

My earliest recollections are of the comments of visitors who remarked on my striking resemblance to Great-Uncle Jonah, and also on my height as an inheritance from my progenitors. This, while it made my parents swell with pride, only made me express my outraged feelings by crying more lustily.

When I was sent to grade school, I was invariably assigned the back seat among the other tall pupils. They were usually boys "from beyond the tracks," too old to be in school and decidedly careless in appearance and personal habits.

In every amateur performance I am placed in the back row. Instinctively I know my place in a chorus—back row, third from the left. The last straw was laid on my overweighted back the other day when some one requested that I take part in a skeleton dance because of my tallness. Let it be written in the book of good deeds that I refused peaceably.

Well-meaning saleswomen often try to assure me that a slim tailored garment is flattering to me. Perhaps it is their erroneous impression that this is the balm of Gilead to my wavering soul; yet it only makes me long more ardently for ruffles and lace and bright colors, which of course accentuate my size.

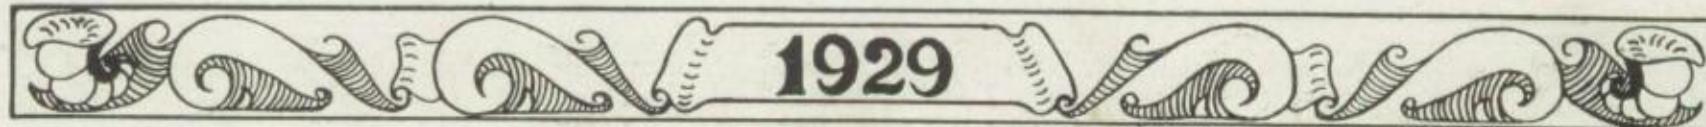

No one ever offers me a seat in a street car—I am tall enough to reach the strap. No one in a crowd moves aside to let me go to the front—I am tall enough to peer over their heads at the platform. I cannot sit in a theatre seat comfortably without scraping my knees on the back of the seat in front of me. I cannot even sit in church without hearing disgusted and unchristian whispers from behind me.

There is one advantage in being tall, and only one; I am in great demand to pull down shades from the top and to turn on the highest lights—it saves using the good chairs to stand on.

I sometimes wonder whether in the after life one of my duties will be adjusting halos. But still, I have a fond, timid hope that, if I am very, very good, I may be a diminutive angel wearing yards of picoted ruffles on my white muslin gown.

ANNE MAVITY, '29.

Through the essays, "On Being Tall," Anne Mavity becomes eligible for the prize awarded the best essay appearing in The Magazine World during the year.

Be Specific

What does it mean? Whatever it means it surely is a difficult thing to be. I have a vague idea that this queer thing or command means that whatever one has to say or write, he should say or write what he means, omitting nothing which would tend to make the thought clearer to the listener or reader. Perhaps this definitions is correct, perhaps it is not. Maybe there is no such thing. But nevertheless, according to authorities, that is what I am supposed to be. In most cases, in fact in every case it seems that I am not specific, no matter how hard I try.

I go into an English class. I feel fine because for once I have my lesson. I have spent much time in reading and outlining the lesson for that day. I am going to show the instructor how much I really know about this subject. I am all smiles and make an attempt at looking intelligent. The instructor probably notices this, because, he asks me to take the wonderful privilege of writing my outline on the blackboard. Very indifferently, this humble person writes his outline. As if the feat of writing it was really only a small thing. Then I return to my place in a greatly changed attitude. My facial expression, if made to talk would say, "Well, there is a perfect outline, it is specific, it is not general, it is absolutely without fault."

"Let us notice this outline," says the instructor. "Part number one, this is all very true," says he." "In fact it is very good, but what about this? Where is this and where is that? How is this shown. This is too general. Be Specific"!

What was that, a bell? Yes it was a bell. I also hear the thundering herd. I wonder who hit me with that safe. I have strange feeling in my head. In spite of the safe, I rise from my place through force of habit. An entirely different sort of person from the one who entered, leaves the room, and an empty stomach guides my footsteps homeward.

At the dinner table I suddenly recall all that happened. I was supposed to be specific. I was supposed to put into one brief sentence, a though which it takes about two hundred words to express. But that is not even half of it. I was also expected to be specific.

Oh! If I could only learn to be specific. The words are always ringing in my ears, they haunt me from morning till night.

There is usually a way around a thing, so I decided to use a deduction method in learning to be specific. Recently, when the instructor asked for an outline, I resolved to use my deduction method in writing this outline. Was it an outline? Well, that is what I meant for it to be. I wrote everything that was in the paragraph to be outlined, then I crossed out everything which I possibly could cross out, and yet be specific. This was very little. Then I put these things into the shortest and simplest sentences possible. These short outline sentences usually contained anywhere from twenty-five to a hundred and twenty-five words. Again I failed miserably in my attempt to be specific.

NAUTILUS

One day as the class was outlining an essay the instructor asked me what I had for the topic of the eleventh paragraph. I reluctantly drawled out the words. The teacher was surprised that such a poor student should give the exact thought that he himself had in mind.

No longer do the words "Be Specific" ring in my ears. At least for once in my life, I was specific. There may be such a thing after all.

WILLIAM HESSON, '29.

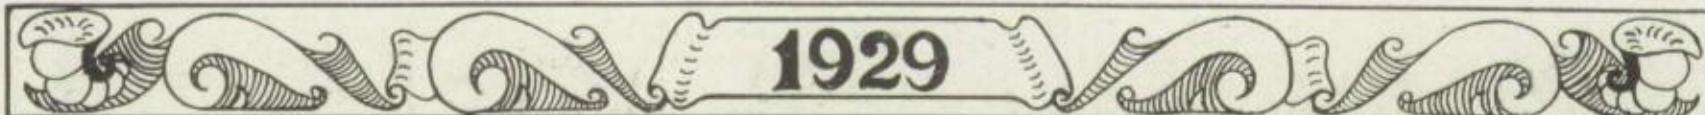

On Getting Up for School

Of all the impressions that I have received during my school days I believe that I will remember longest those experienced immediately after waking upon week-day mornings. Never do the joys of lying in bed seem so enticing as when compared to the unpleasantness of tramping a long mile to school and having to study Latin or even worse upon arriving.

Of course Monday is the worst. For two days you have laughed at the alarm clock and rested luxuriously until nearly noon. Being thus thrown out of the regular routine, the Monday morning alarm clock finds you "dead to the world." It breaks upon your peaceful slumbers very faintly at first, as if it were far away. You are annoyed at its insistence but are not yet fully enough awake to comprehend its real meaning. Soon its clangor rouses you more or less and you lie with half closed eyes and debate whether to answer or ignore its call. You know that you will eventually get up and go to school but nevertheless, before you are fully awake it seems as if you are dreaming and the actual process of climbing out of bed seems impossible and unreal. However, despite all feelings to the contrary, the act is always accomplished in the end, and one more school day is begun.

Still, there is some recompense on Saturday and Sunday. You awake somewhere around nine o'clock. You see the sun streaming in through the window and are seized by the fear that the clock stopped and you will be late. Then the refreshing thought—It's Saturday! As long as I live I'll always remember these two waking impressions.

Tribute to the English Department

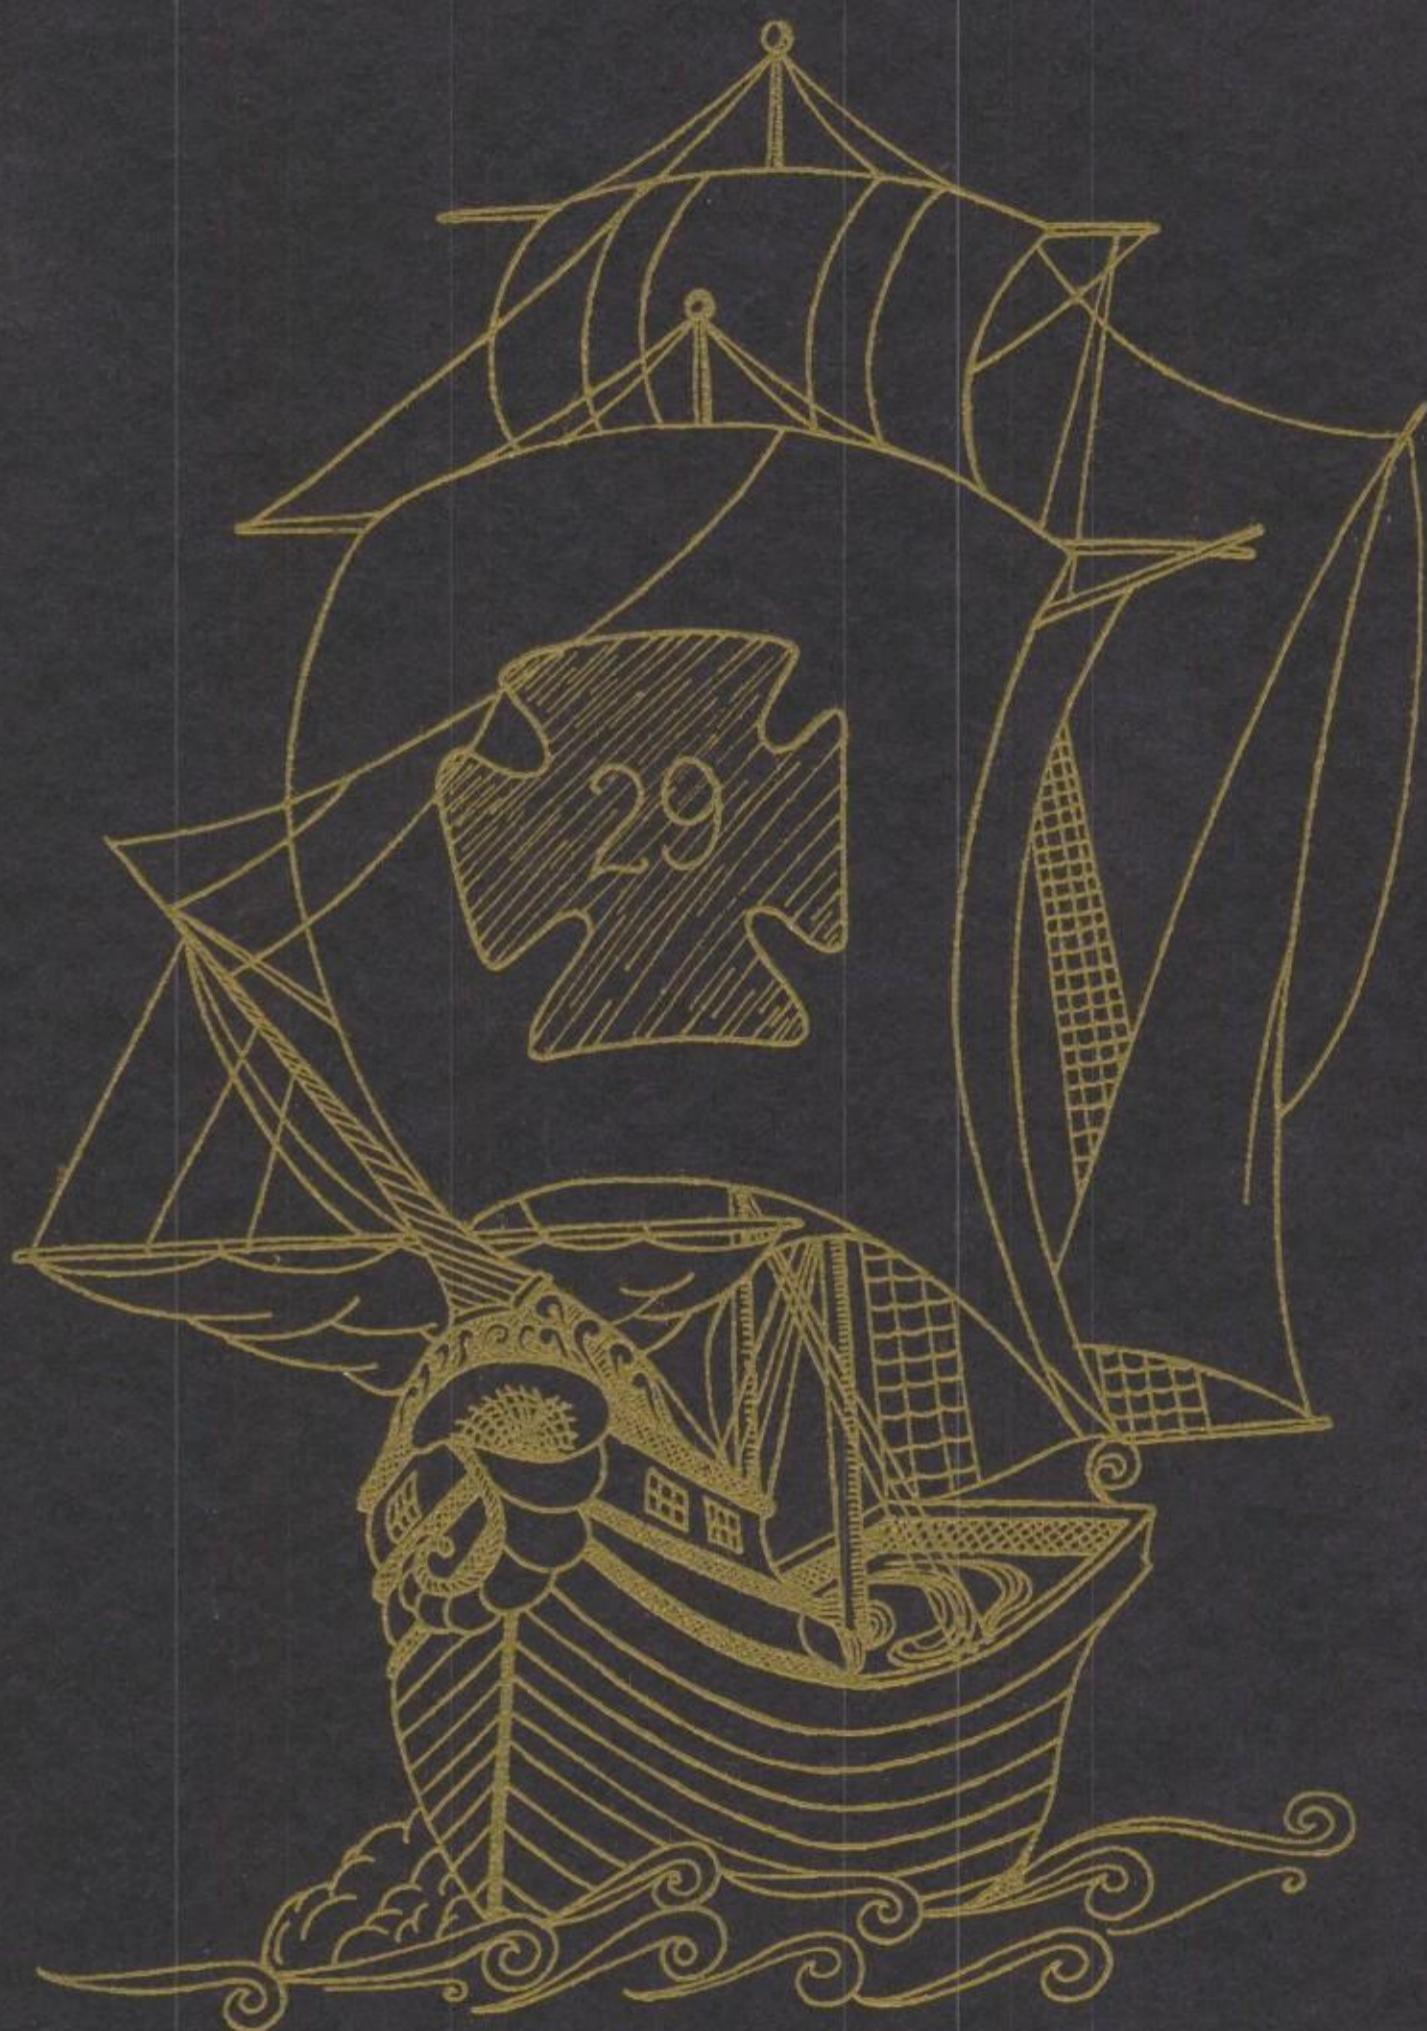

The contributions made to the literary section were selected from the class work of the English department. Miss Fleming and Miss Thomas contributed the essays of Anne Mavity.

The Nautilus expresses the sympathy of the student body to both Miss Wood and Miss Pierce who were unable, because of illness, to complete the work of the school year. Mrs. Baldwin and Mrs. Van Fleet have filled these vacancies.

The vacancy left by the resignation of Miss Ragan was filled by Miss Weeks. Miss Ragan will spend more time in writing and in the study of journalism and literature. As former sponsor of the Nautilus and Booster Miss Ragan easily proved her journalistic ability and the student body congratulates her on her opportunity to continue her work in a broader way.

COACH CLARENCE R. GROGAN

Coach Grogan has completed his fourth year as head coach of the athletic teams.

His reputation as a basketball coach is statewide. During the past court season, his coaching ability was tested severely, as the varsity was handicapped by the loss of the center. The showing of the Bronchos during the season was ample testimony of Mr. Grogan's ability as a coach.

Besides basketball, Mr. Grogan coaches the football eleven and through his untiring efforts he has developed a football team, that Jefferson is proud of. His thorough knowledge of the two major sports and how to handle men account for the unusual record his men have set.

The Athletic Board

The Jefferson High School Athletic Association is one of the oldest organizations in the history of the school. The association is governed by a board, consisting of members of the faculty and students. The latter are elected by a popular vote of the entire student body.

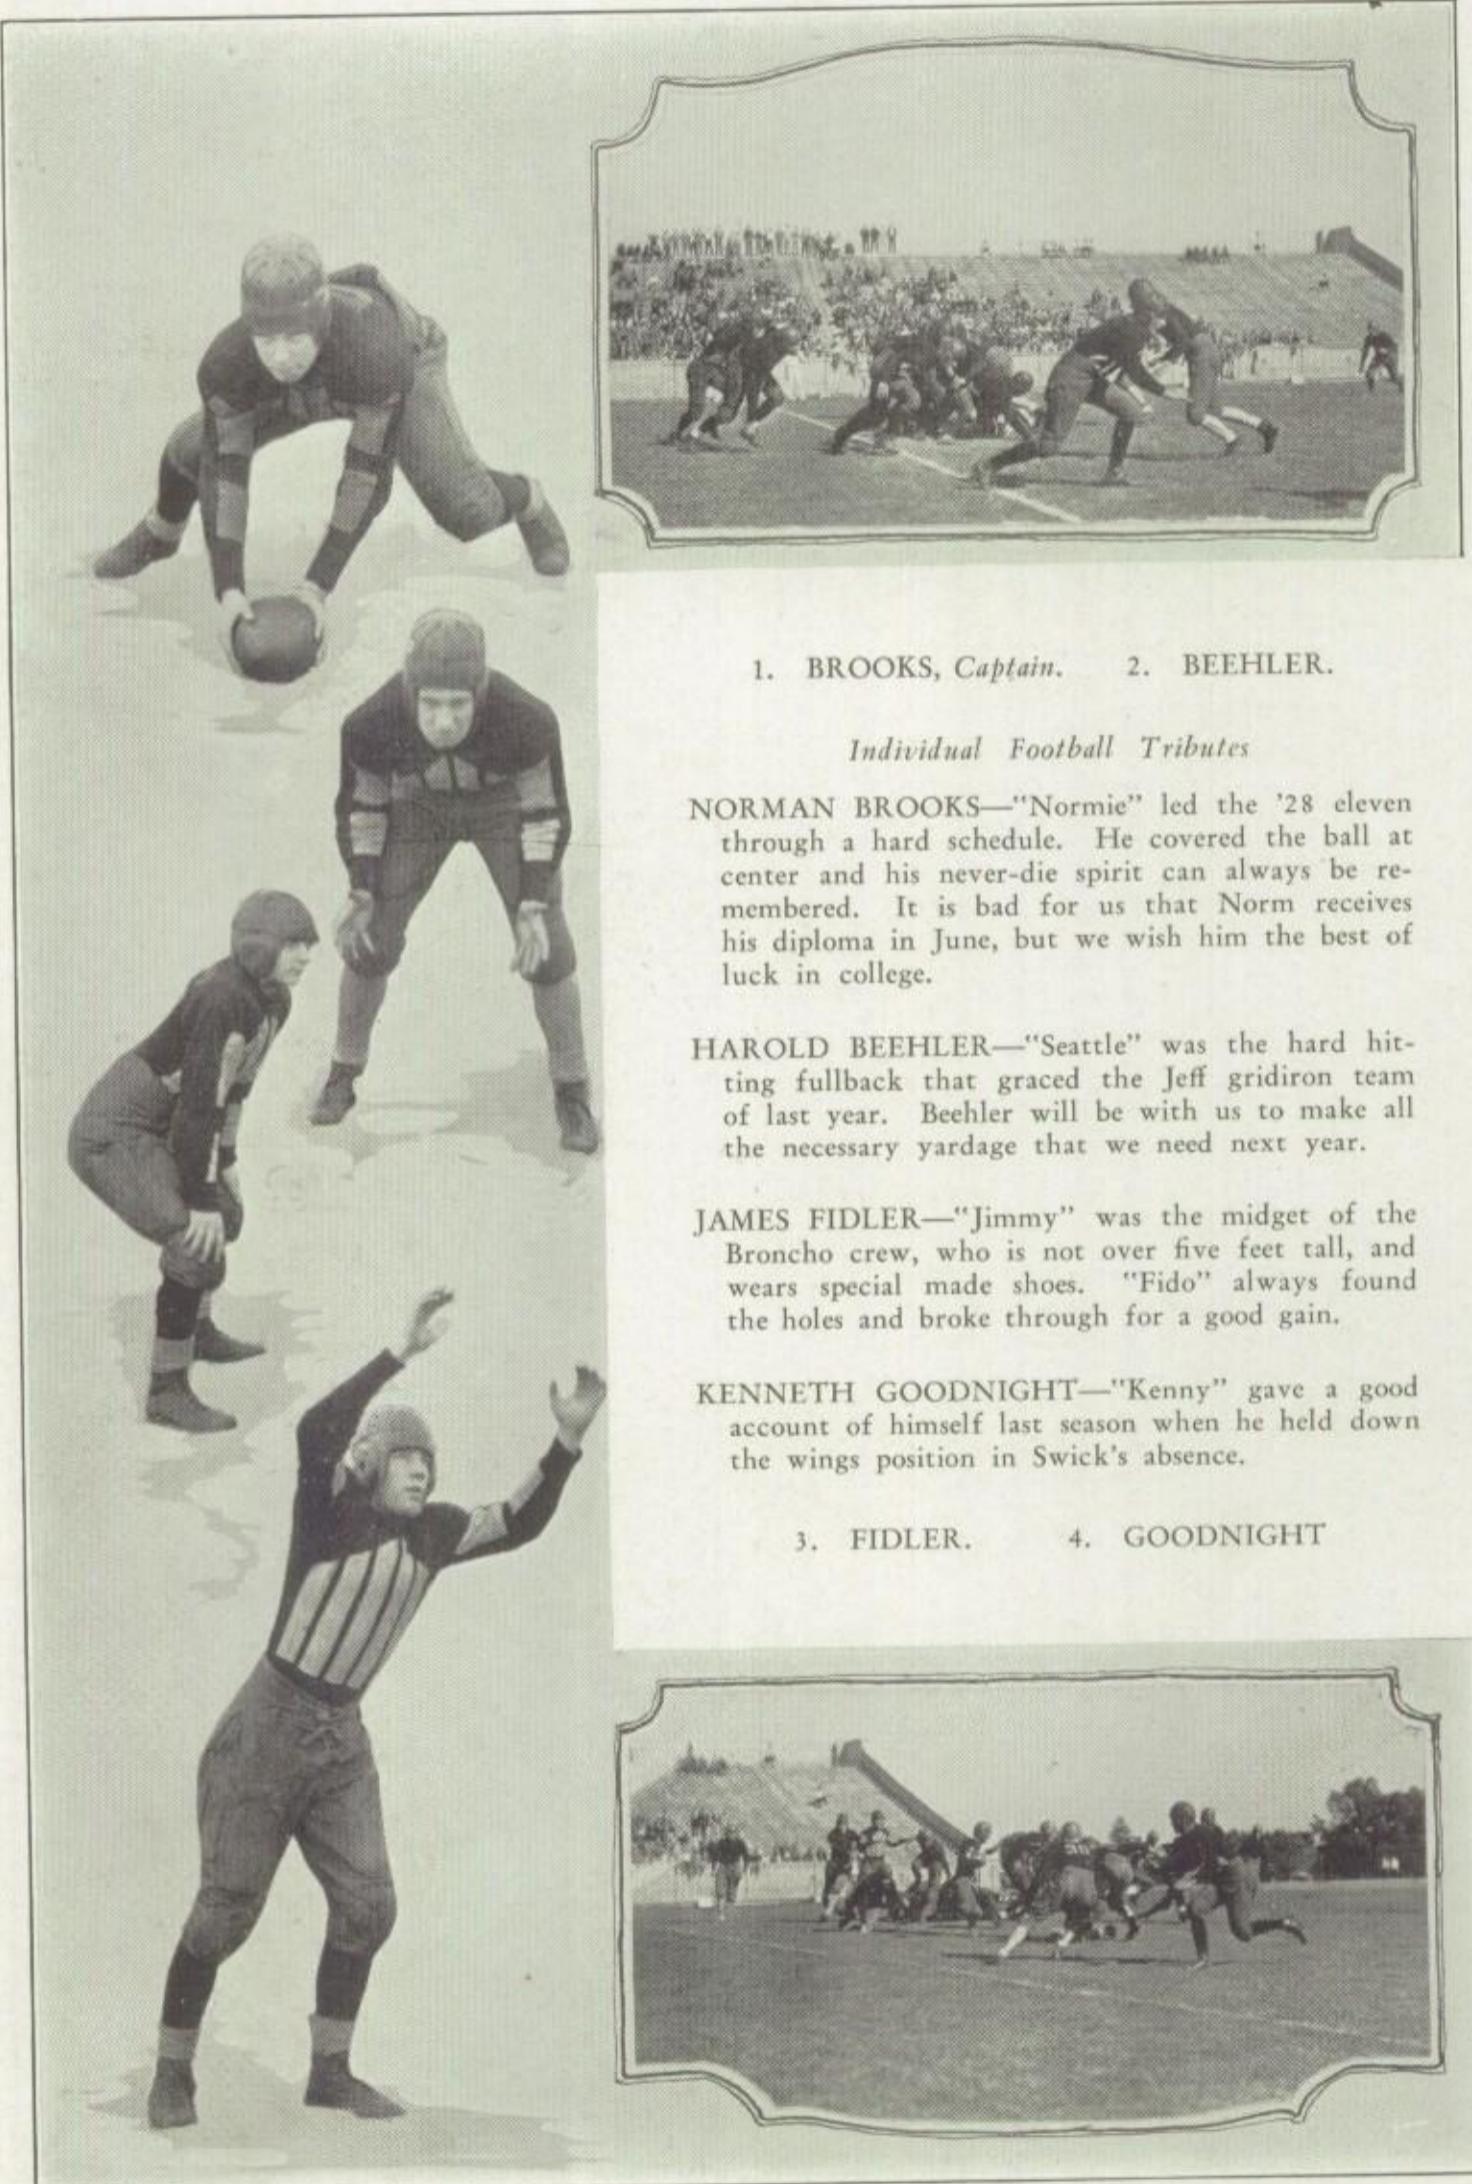

The main purpose of the board is to promote athletics at Jefferson. This is done by providing for varsity and intramural games, awarding honor sweaters to the varsity members and minor awards to those who were unable to fulfill the requirements for a major award but have been trustworthy and faithful to the coach.

HAROLD BEEHLER—"Seattle" was the hard hitting fullback that graced the Jeff gridiron team of last year. Beehler will be with us to make all the necessary yardage that we need next year.

JAMES FIDLER—"Jimmy" was the midget of the Broncho crew, who is not over five feet tall, and wears special made shoes. "Fido" always found the holes and broke through for a good gain.

KENNETH GOODNIGHT—"Kenny" gave a good account of himself last season when he held down the wings position in Swick's absence.

1. ARMANTROUT. 2. GULLION.

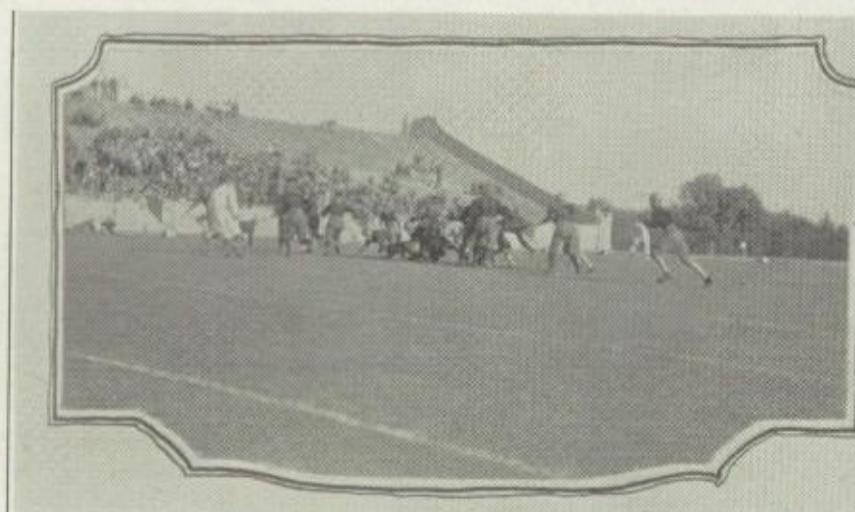

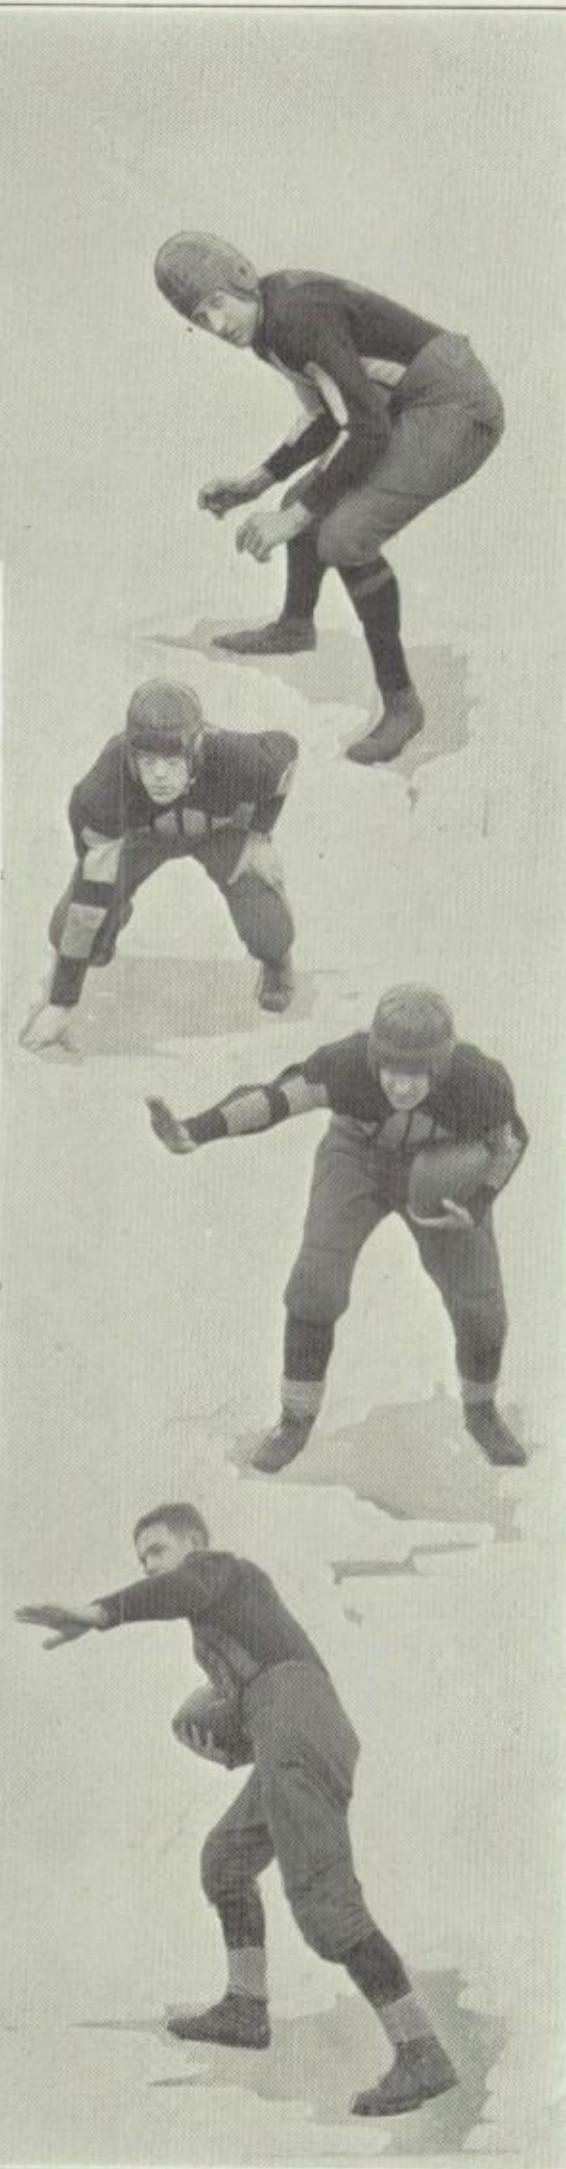

ARTHUR ARMANTROUT—"Art" was the biggest member of the squad and was one of the best defensive guards in the school. His ability of blocking punts will be missed next year.

THOMAS GULLION—"Tom" always played a stellar game of football at the guard position. He was a hard fighter and made it tough for his opponent. Tom will be back in harness when the football call is made next year.

MAX McLEAN—Jeff's brainy quarterback, was in all of this year's games. He was a real signal barker and as Captain-elect will be one of the mainstays next year.

DON McCONNELL—Small but mighty is the only way of expressing "Don's" ability at halfback. His motto is "the bigger they are the harder they fall."

1928 Football Review

The Jefferson football gridders turned in a fine season for the Red and Black. The result was five victories, two defeats and the final game with West Side finished with a 7-7 deadlock. Grogan will have several lettermen back next year with which to form the big eleven. The men who will return are Captain-elect McLean, Crowe, Swick, Gullion, C. Martin, Beeler, Kamstra, and Fidler.

Jeff 13—West Side 7

Coach Grogan's football proteges inaugurated the 1928 season by taking into camp, the traditional rivals, West Side, by a score of 13-7. The battle was fought in the Ross-Ade Stadium.

In the last few minutes of play the boys from across the river tried an aerial attack that went for naught. For West Side, Stewart and Reed were the outstanding ground gainers while Rose of Jeff did some sensational line smashing for the Red and Black crew.

Jeff 0—Rensselaer 12

Coach Harrison's Rensselaer eleven, aided by the line smashing of Wright and Ward, his elusive halfbacks, trounced the Red and Black gridders on Jeff Field by a 12-0 score.

Jeff 0—Brazil 7

Coach Grogan's eleven encountered the Brazil High School aggregation in the next game, which resulted in a victory for the Coalminers.

Jeff 9—Crawfordsville 7

Staging a brilliant comeback in the final ten minutes of this game the Red and Black gridders nosed out the Crawfordsville eleven by a score of 9-7.

Jeff 7—West Side 7

Jeff and West Side resumed gridiron hostilities for the second time at the Ross-Ade Stadium, and after forty minutes of plunging, passing and punting had been exhibited the score board produced a 7-7 deadlock.

JEFFERSON 6—Logansport 0

Playing in their last game of the season, the Red and Black football men emerged victorious over the Logansport eleven to the tune of 6-0. Immediately after the opening whistle, the Jeff backs toted the ball to Logansport's 19 yard line, and on the next play Beehler trotted through the entire Loganberry defense for a touchdown. The entire game was played in a drizzling rain making fumbles frequent and putting very difficult.

Among those who donned a Red and Black uniform for the last time were: Captain Brooks, Anderson, Armantrout, Wallace, Goodnight, McConnell, Wehr, Weast and Tully.

Intramural Champs

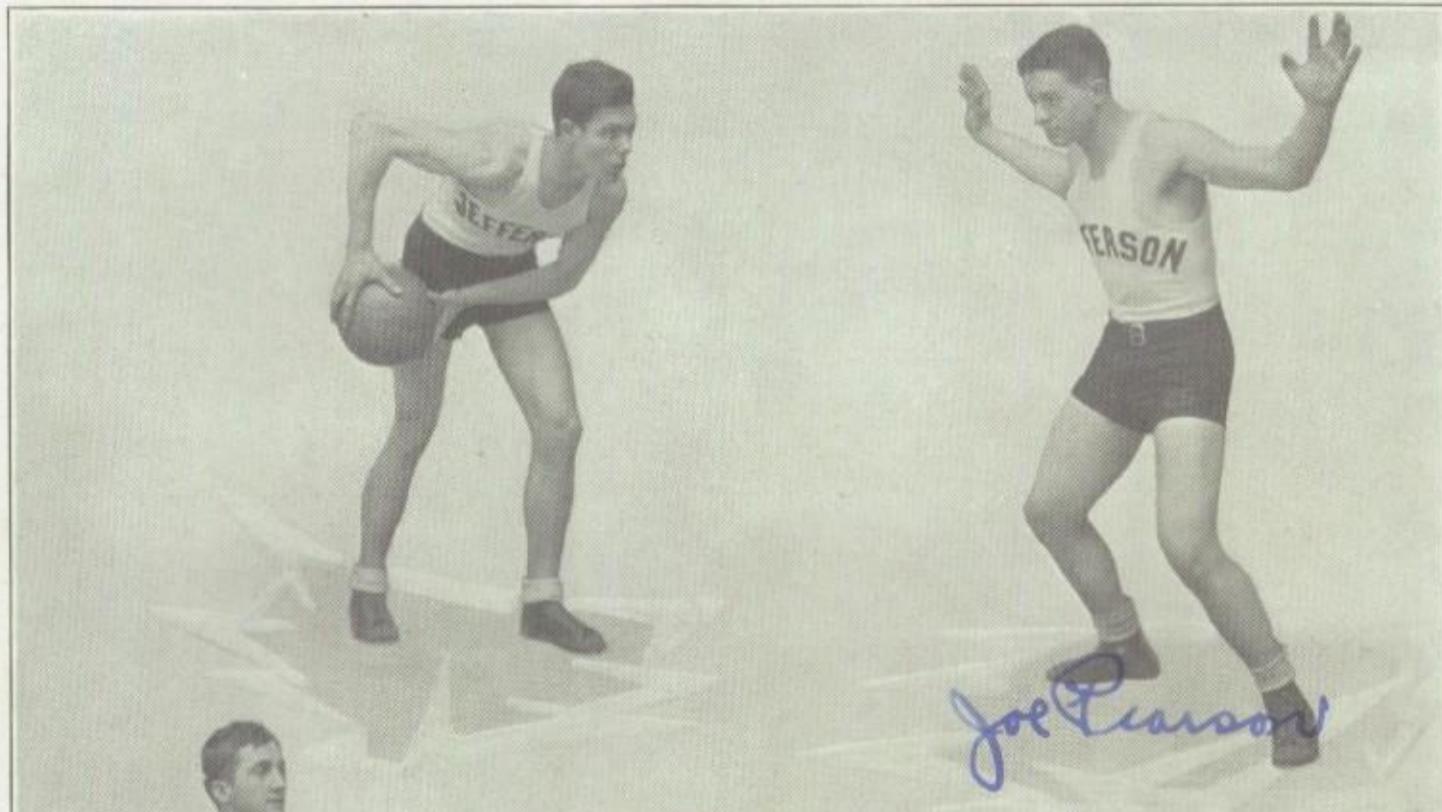

A new idea was originated in the Jeff camp last football season in order to give those who are unable to play on the Varsity a chance to engage in the grid sport. An Intramural League was formed under the supervision of Mr. Miller and captains were appointed to lead the various elevens. The captains of the four teams were: Felix, Rose, Casey and Smith. Captain Felix and his winning team are pictured below.

Individual Basketball Tributes

DON McCONNELL

Don fitted nicely into the Broncho five. His playing proved him useful and he was a valuable man throughout the season. Mac was considered one of the "ponies" and will be greatly missed next year, as he leaves in June via the graduation route.

HAROLD WEAVER

"Buck" has completed three seasons with the Red and Black quintet and without doubt is one of the greatest backguards that ever donned a Jeff uniform.

JACK REITEMEIER

Jack was a backguard of no mean ability and will defend the goal for the Jeffersonians next year as he is only a Junior.

JOE PEARSON

Joe was a handy man to shove into a game at any moment. The former Flora athlete is a Sophomore and will perform two more seasons on the Jeff Hardwood.

LEO CROWE

While "Mouse" was at the helm there were but few defeats chalked up against us. His clever dribbling and fake passes completely baffled the opposing fives.

MAX McLEAN

Max is the last of the three ponies of the Jeff five and deserves considerable praise as to his basketball calibre. Much is expected of him next year.

ALBERT MARTIN

"Abe" is the boy who tried for a varsity position for three years, and won out in his Senior year. He was a good pivot man and a splendid defensive man but he leaves us this year. We wish him the best of luck in college.

ROY WALLACE

"Wally," another of the "Ponies" proved himself to be a tower of strength on the offense and equally so on the defense. It will be hard to fill his shoes next year as he is a member of the graduating class.

BILL ELLIS

Bill was a great asset to the team during the time that he was eligible. Being a clever dribbler and an excellent shot, he pulled many a game out of the fire.

DON CASAD

Our six feet-three center filled Ellis's shoes when the latter was declared ineligible. His lack of experience was a great handicap to him but Don has two more seasons to play with us and no doubt will be heard from more.

Basketball Summary

The Jefferson High School basketball team dedicated their new gym before a large crowd by trouncing the Manual netters of Indianapolis by a 40-15 score. The next week the Groganmen trekked to Rensselaer and as no competition was furnished, the locals came home with a decisive victory. The next day the Red and Black outfit went to their "Waterloo" by dropping a hard fought encounter to the Rochester Zebras by a 23-21 score. Attica was the next opponent for the Jeffersonians but the Coffingmen failed to cope with the superior offense and defense produced by the locals. The Atticans went down to defeat to the tune of 46-29. A team known as Mitchell invaded the local court to tangle with the Broncho five but were sent back home with the short end of the score 36-29. The locals led throughout the entire contest and the Mitchellites were unable to break through the strong defense of the Groganmen.

Coach Debard brought his West Siders across and they gave the East Side quintet "a run for their money." Both teams were unable to gain points and a tight defense was exhibited by both fives. The final score was 20-16 in favor of the Jeff crew. The next week French Lick also fought the locals in a game that was almost an even break, but the Groganmen held a slight edge and were fortunate enough to end the game with a 25-20 lead. The Emerson five of Gary almost proved fatal to the Lafayetters but were set back by a score of 32-28. The Northerner's inability to break through the defense accounted for their loss. Crawfordsville took the Groganmen into camp in the Athenian Hardwood by a score of 29-23. After a few days rest, the Jeffersonians set the Bainbridge five down in easy fashion, but Coach Lastutters fast stepping Delphi outfit subdued the Red and Black in a non-interesting game played on the Carroll County floor. The next victim for the locals was Peru who fell in an exciting fracas, staged in the Jeff gym. Another battle with the Scarlet and Gray was an almost murderous affair. The Debardmen were completely baffled by the superb ball played by the Bronchos. The final score was 45-23. Wabash High School was lucky to ring up 16 points while Jeff had 46. Greenfield stepped on the locals in splendid fashion, but the Huntington crew was sent back home holding the end of an exceedingly short score. The State Champion Muncie five invaded the Jefferson lair and were given the battle of their lives. At the final gun the Jollymen were in the lead by a score of 32-18. The locals defense was too strong for the Bearcats and almost proved fatal to the winners. The remaining three games on the card were dropped to Lebanon, Frankfort and Tech, thus ending the 1928-29 regular schedule for the locals.

Sectional Tourney

The Groganmen had it tough trodding in the Sectional tourney, staged on the local floor. Their first opponent was Klondike and a great score was put into the Jeff camp. The Bronchos finally broke through for enough markers to "put the game on ice." The Dayton outfit was met in the second round but the Englandmen were put back a notch and thus the locals earned the right to encounter the Monitor Commodores in the semi-final fray. The game was forced into overtime but the Groganmen came through with a 3 point lead at the end of the game. Coach Francis' West Point netters played brilliant ball to topple the Bronchos out of the tourney thus forcing the local netters to secret their uniforms until next season.

Assistant Coach Botkins

ALVA V. BOTKIN

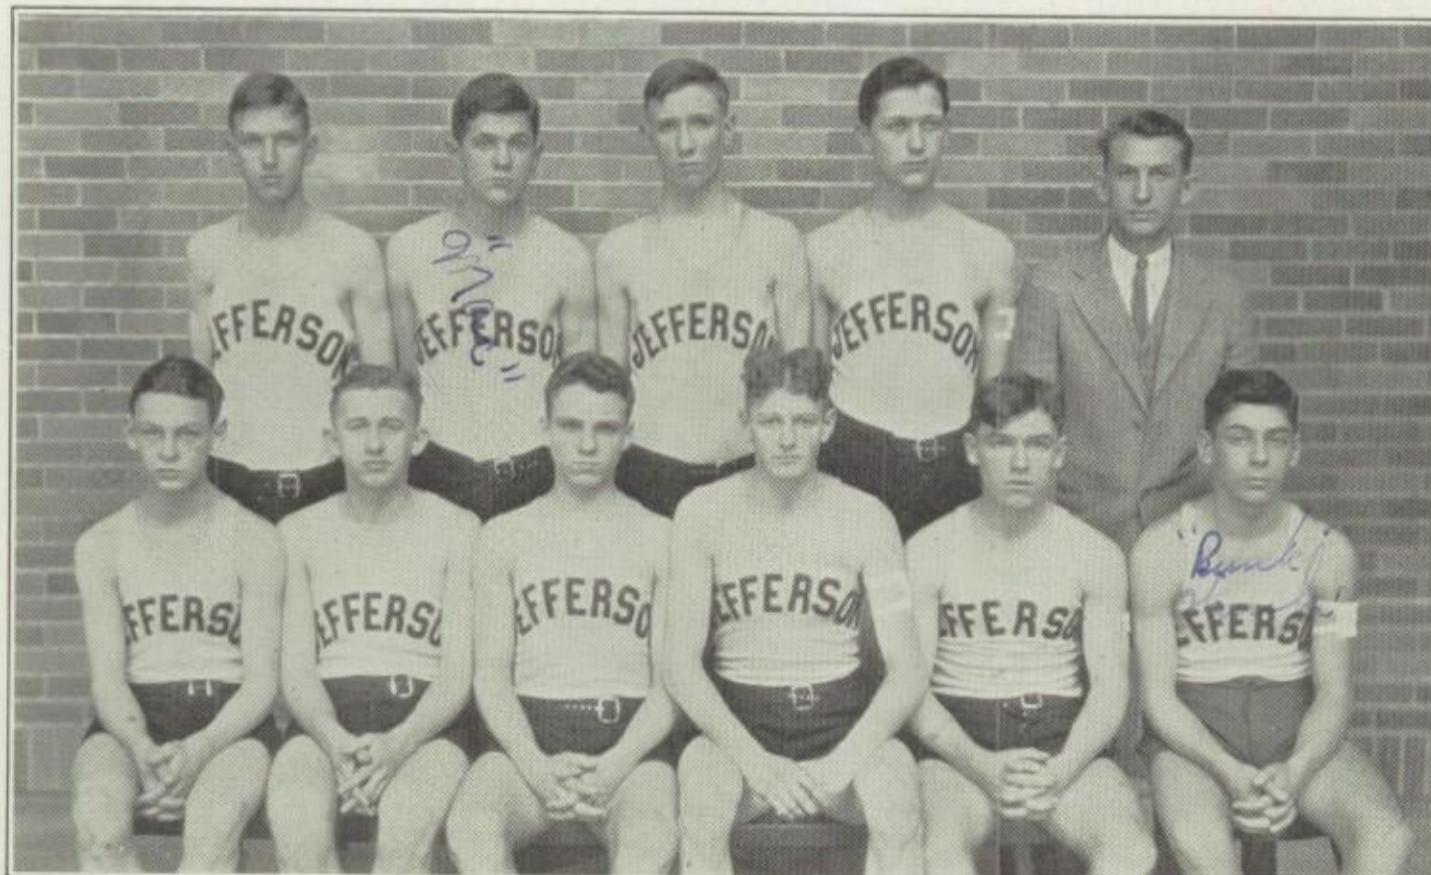

Assistant Coach

Mr. Botkin deserves much credit for assisting Coach Grogan with his football men last season. Besides being assistant mentor of the football team, Mr. Botkin has full charge of the second team, that represents Jeff on the hardwood. He set a record this year by ending the season with an enviable record of thirteen victories and five defeats. He is mainly interested in the indoor sport, basketball, and due to his clever tactics he produced a winning five.

Track

In William Fisher, Jefferson High School has one of the best track stars they have had in years. "Peltzer" was a man with an iron nerve which carried him through victorious in many a meet. He has led the team through two successful seasons and we sincerely hope he will lead them to victory again this year.

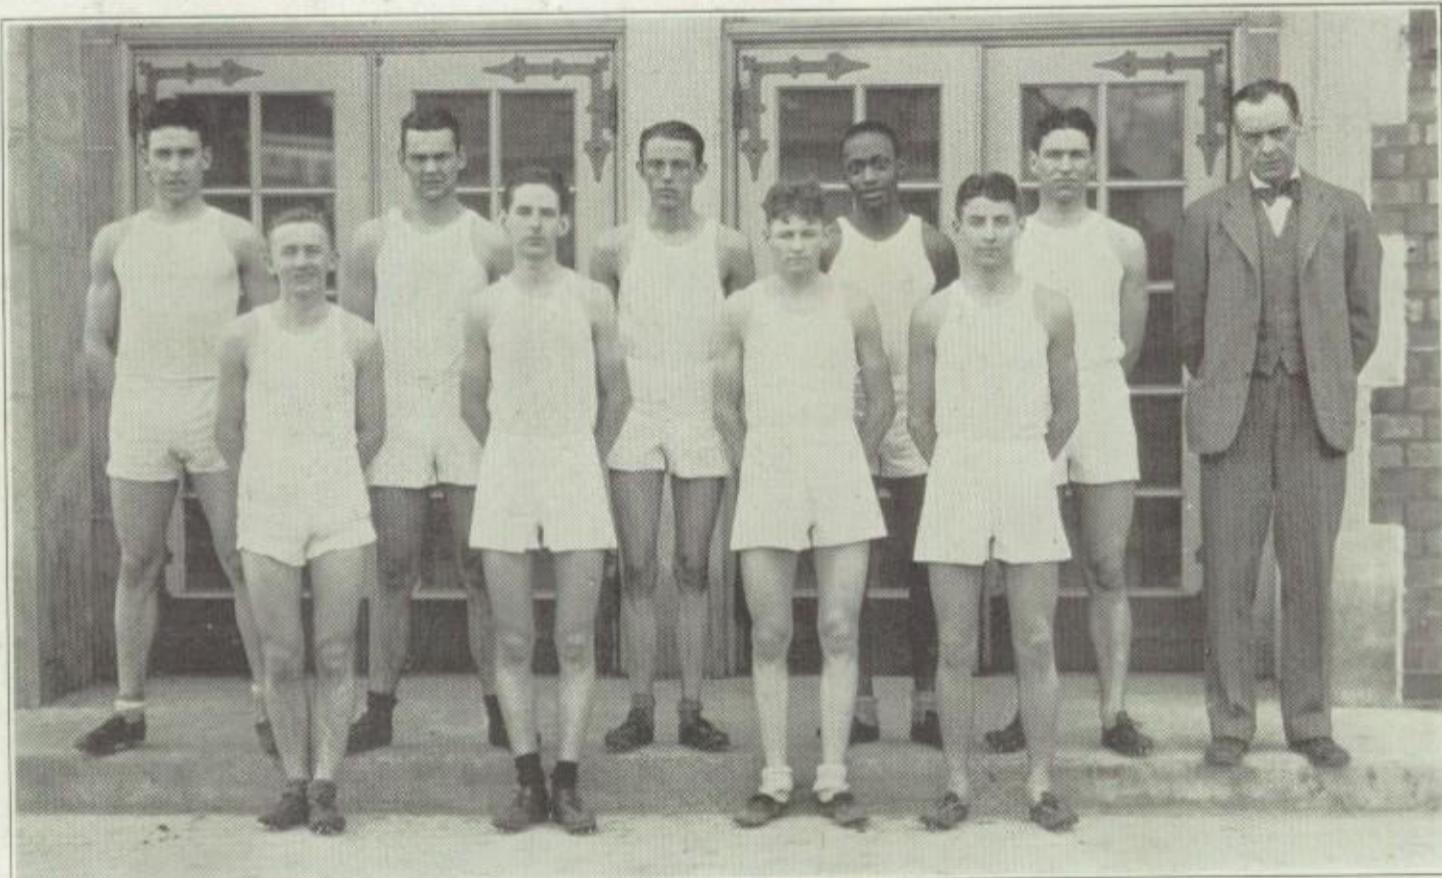

Jefferson High School track squad, though maybe not the greatest ever produced were a bunch of boys with fighting spirit. And not too much praise can be given to these boys who pounded the cinder track every night that old Jeff might lead. Among the most faithful was Fisher, who has been undefeated in the mile run.

Girls' Athletics

Much enthusiasm has been shown in our physical training classes this year. The classes have increased in size and the spacious gymnasium has afforded an opportunity to have more extensive work.

Miss Aldridge, the instructor has also coached the girls' intramural basket ball teams. Much interest was shown in the competition of the five teams. The final tourney was played between the "Yellows" and "Blacks." The former team, composed: Kathleen Bowers, Huldah Lewellen, Emma Burkle, Marjorie Ritterath, Edna Hannah, Mary Killian, was defeated by the "Blacks." The winning team was composed of Peg Crowe, Martha Griffen, Vivian Miller, Lola Bunt, Abigail Rayl, Patricia Fogarty, Helen Keller and Helen Joyce Williams.

THE NEW ADDITION

This addition is fire-proof throughout, and is planned to care for all of the vocational and physical education work of the high school, while the old part of the building contains the academic school. The new addition contains: machine shop, auto mechanics, bench work, lathe and finishing room, mechanical drawing, printing, band and orchestra, four commercial rooms, domestic science department, ten class-rooms, library, study hall, cafeteria, gymnasium-auditorium, and adequately equipped stage. This unit plan makes Jefferson High School one of the largest and most efficient school buildings in the state.

SEPTEMBER

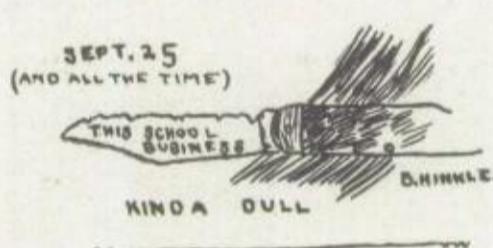

Monday, 10—First day of school, and how! Everyone received instructions and a handbook "free." Overheard in balcony. Miss Young in kindly authoritative tone, "Just sit anywhere today girls." The "girls" giggled and added shyly, "But we're teachers." The girls were Misses B. and C. Galloway.

Tuesday, 11—No school today! The new building isn't finished yet—Whoopee!!

Wednesday, 12—Ditto and another Whoopee!

Thursday, 13—We started in right today. Classes, football practice, n' everything. Mr. Earl Hinshaw is to be our Principal for awhile, due to Mr. Singer's illness. Things are rather dull without him but Mr. Hinshaw will pep things up.

Friday, 14—Terribly warm today. Summer certainly hasn't left us. Mr. Hinshaw: (Advice to Preps) "Do not run through the halls in changing classes. I can cover these two blocks in five minutes!—so can you! Learn the location of your class rooms. Should you get lost come to the office. Question?? Where is It???"

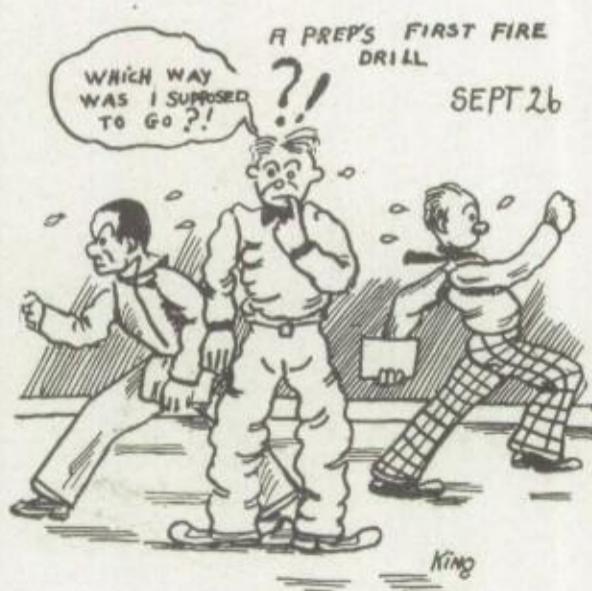

Monday, 17—Most of us had our schedules changed and helped a few preps find their classes.

Tuesday, 18—The Booster Staff is getting organized and it won't be long until we get the first edition.

Wednesday, 19—The Booster Staff held their subscription drive today at Convo. They sure went over big! Got more subscriptions than ever before. Tryouts for yell leader today. The candidates, Bob Smith, Roger Hayth, Paul Moser, and Bert Mullins, sure didn't forget the Booster Staff in their yell-leading attempts today.

Thursday, 20—It's going to be done "ON TIME." What? The 1929 Nautilus!

Friday, 21—Everybody's all het up about tomorrow's game. Boy—we're rarin' to get at those West Siders!

Monday, 24—Jeff 13-West Side 6! Hot dogs! Whee! and other expressions of whoopee! Sunshine candy booth opened.

Tuesday, 25—Gosh—Eddie Rose is sure a hero since that West Side game. Honestly, he has to club the girls away.

Wednesday, 26—Mr. Hinshaw gave us instructions about getting out of the auditorium in case it became ignited.

NAUTILUS

Thursday, 27—Everyone expected a Booster today but it won't be out until tomorrow.

Friday, 28—First Booster of the year today and one free to everyone. Congratulations Booster Staff and Mr. Conder! Hurrah for our new yell leaders Smith and Hayth!

OCTOBER

Monday, 1—Whee! Jeff 7, Kentland 0! Ain't it a grand and glorious feeling? Eddie Rose starred again. He sure is an ideal fullback.

Tuesday, 2—Have you heard about or noticed Bud Clayton and Katy Rodriguez? Oh! Ain't Love Grand?

Wednesday, 3—We're just crammed full of information about China since some professor talked to us on that country today. And for information on how to become an ange', see Mr. Hinshaw. He knows what wires to touch!

Thursday, 4—Party of Sunshine girls for Preps or little sisters held in auditorium at 3:30.

Friday, 5—Get your tickets for tomorrow. Don McConnel got hurt at practice. We hope he will be able to play tomorrow.

Monday, 8—Rensselaer 12, Jeff 0. Better luck next time, fellows. Heard a good one today—Norm Brooks says spring is here. He saw Glenn Greenwood throw his Christmas tree out.

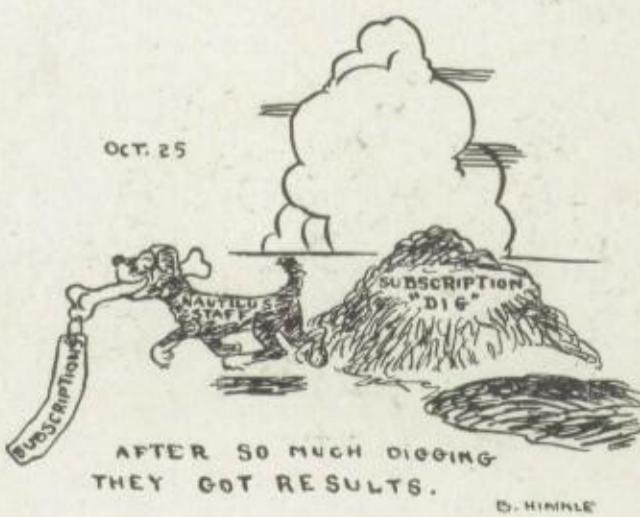

Wednesday, 10—Awful dull day—nearly everyone was sleepy. Senior class election today. Art Armantrout, president; Pat Casey, vice-president; Marie Browning, secretary; Willard Ullman, treasurer.

Thursday, 11—The football team lost a very valuable man when it lost Captain Roy Hamilton. Roy has quit school.

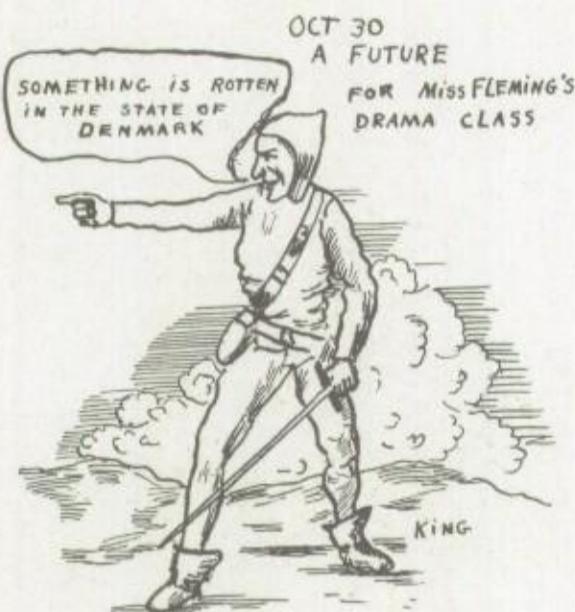

Friday, 12—Norm Brooks, the team's center, has been chosen to fill Hamilton's place as captain. Nice goin' Norm! Mary Shambaugh will throw the football for tomorrow's game from her dad's airplane.

Monday, 15—Jeff 9, Crawfordsville, 7. How's that for pulling a game out of the fire? Pretty nice—isn't it?

Tuesday, 16—No convo tomorrow—Gosh, we never will catch up on our sleep.

NAUTILUS

Wednesday, 17—On to Lebanon! Over one hundred rooters went to Lebanon today to see Jeff wallop those Lebanon boys. See you there!

Thursday, 18—Teachers' Convention starts today. Gee! Isn't it nice in town now? Oh! well, what would the world be without 'em?

Friday, 19—Breakfast at noon for all students today too! More vacation!

Monday, 22—Jeff, 18—Lebanon, 7! Ain't that nice? We believe the teachers had a good time at the Teachers' Convention.

Tuesday, 23—Heard that Pat Casey made a hit in Franklin Saturday when the Booster representatives were in that town.

Wednesday, 24—The Booster wants it known that Pat will remain with them in spite of his love affair.

Thursday, 25—Nautilus drive today. Quite a few forgot their money. How can they be like that? For the benefit of those who do not know what the Nautilus is—it is not a worm or an insect, but it is the year book of Jefferson High School.

Friday, 26—Over 300 subscriptions for the Nautilus. Not so bad! Don't forget your money for the Nautilus Monday, if you want a book. See you at the Brazil game tomorrow!

Monday, 29—Jeff couldn't stop those coal diggers from Brazil. Lost 7-0.

Tuesday, 30—Miss Fleming's 12A drama class presented a play in the auditorium today. The play was cleverly presented, wasn't it?

Wednesday, 31—Hallowe'en—Ooooooh! Look out tonight. Dr. Wetherill told us about a lost civilization today. We'd like to meet that princess he told about.

NOVEMBER

Thursday, 1—Everyone present but not accounted for after last night. Herb Schaaf our editor is reducing. How can he be like that?

Friday, 2—No game this week-end, Rochester cancelled theirs. Bye Rocke, the boys deserve a rest.

Monday, 5—West Side this week. Let's hope the rest did the fellows good. Behler has a sprained ankle. Gee! there goes another valuable man.

Tuesday, 6—Willard Cheeseman declares he has received a liberal education in the last two days! How? He has learned the number and location of every room in these two blocks. Ruth Klein reports that it woud not have taken so long to take pictures for Nautilus if Claud Hellwig had not taken time to borrow a tie in study; if Eddie Rose had not tried to get excused to go to Good-night's to get Staycomb; and Lucille Crepeau had not gone home to get her compact and perfume.

Wednesday, 7—Several good musical numbers at Convo today. The Girls' Glee Club is really good.

Thursday, 8—We thought for a while that Jim Hassett and Helen Kessener had broken up—but true love will find a way.

Monday, 12—Jeff 7—West Side 7. Too bad we didn't win but anyway we didn't lose, did we?

Tuesday, 13—We know its the thirteenth, but why all the unusual gloom this morning? Because the Sunshine girls hiked last night.

Wednesday, 14—Time—10:35. Place—Auditorium. Act 1, Scene 1—Students assemble before closed curtains. Act 2—The curtains are pulled and Mr. Singer is seen on the stage. Act 3—Hearty Applause!

Thursday, 15—Not much to do today except to praise Art Armantrout.

Friday, 16—Seniors decided on the colors for their sweaters today—Red and Black!

Monday, 19—Orders are being taken for the senior sweaters today. Say! Jeff sort of laid it on Logan didn't they? 6-0.

Tuesday, 20—Heard it wouldn't be long till the new gym would be available for use.

Wednesday, 21—Elmer Sweek may not be at his position with the team Saturday. He did something to his shoulder at practice today. Tough luck Elmer!

Thursday, 22—The lines are being painted on the gym floor today. Practice in a few days.

Friday, 23—Open house today—everyone is invited to go through the school today—Prof. L. A. Pettinger of Muncie Normal School will deliver an address at the formal dedication.

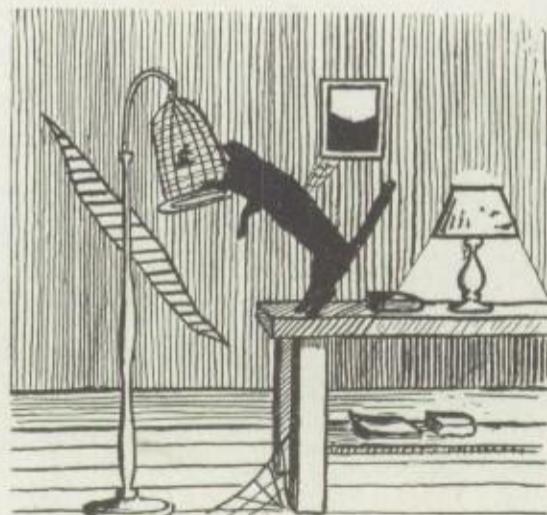

Monday, 26—Can't wait till Thursday—can you? Lots of people are not going to eat for two days—That is—Applesauce.

Tuesday, 27—The Cat and the Canary will be produced by Jeff students tonight. The production is sure to be a success financially and socially.

Wednesday, 28—Vacation tomorrow.

Tuesday, 11—Everyone is feeling fine since the Manual game. Looks as though we will win a lot more games too!

Wednesday, 12—Lots of talk about supporting the team at convo today—well! Let's all be present at the next game!

Thursday, 13—This thirteenth did almost fall on Friday. Close Call! First meeting of the reorganized Press Club.

Friday, 14—Are you all set for the week-end games with Rensselaer and Rochester?

Monday, 17—What could be sweeter? Jeff 48, Rensselaer 28! But Oh! Jeff 21, Rochester 23.

Tuesday, 18—Everyone is all flustered over a false rumor that school would be closed on account of the smallpox epidemic.

Wednesday, 19—Well—we're still in school.

Thursday, 20—Even teachers get kind hearted around Christmas. Didn't have any assignment in one class today.

Friday, 21—Wheeee! Out for the Christmas holidays! See you next year! Toodle-do.

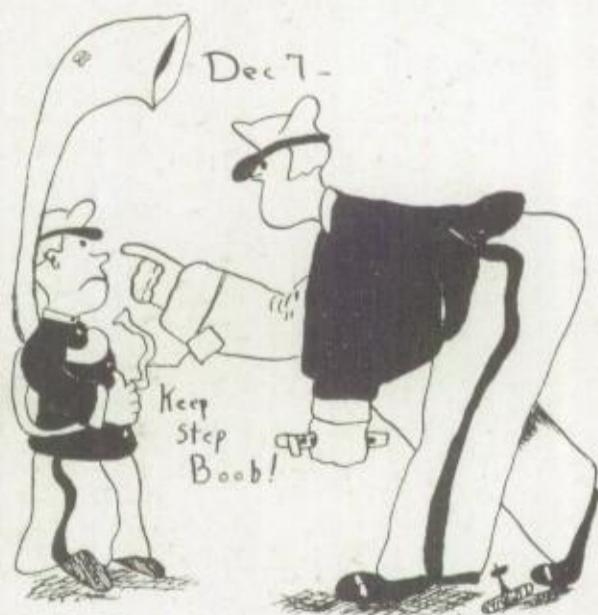

JANUARY

Wednesday, 2—Hello, everybody! How did Santa treat you? Jeff sure sent over big during the holidays. They beat Attica, Mitchell, West Lafayette, and French Lick all by good margins. Don't forget to get vaccinated!

Thursday, 3—Ha! Ha! We're started in right now—report cards are beginning to worry us.

Friday, 4—Quite a snow today! Can hardly wait till 3:30.

Monday, 7—Jeff beat Emerson 38-34. Hot socks! or what have you?

NAUTILUS

Tuesday, 8—Haven't lost a game on that new gym and the fellows are sure working hard to hold the record.

Wednesday, 9—Another one of those cometogethers (convos) today. Mr. Hinshaw railed for Faculty team.

Thursday, 10—Buck Weaver, our backguard, is out of school with the flu. Now is that nice, I ask you?

Friday, 11—Lots of rooters are going to Crawfordsville tonight. Will I see you there?

Monday, 14—Jeff 31, C'ville 39. Too bad, but you can't play in a "Cigar box" like you can on our gym floor.

Tuesday, 15—Mr. Botkin's second team is beginning to hit their stride. They beat Klondike last Friday night.

Wednesday, 16—Not a bit sleepy now. Made it up in convo.

Thursday, 17—Won't be long till the end of the semester. Let's start our cramming. Eddie Rose is to be tried at court in a mock trial at the Delturian Club tonight. Jack Sills is to be judge.

Friday, 18—Are you going to Delphi tonight? Special Car is going. Boy! If we beat Delphi—Oooo!

Monday, 21—Jeff 36, Delphi 47, tough luck. The boys redeemed themselves Saturday night by beating Peru 39-21.

Tuesday, 22—Finals this week. Senior Faculty game tonight. That will be a real basketball game.

Wednesday, 23—Seniors 19, Faculty 20. There's a reason why but we're not talking.

Thursday, 24—Still taking finals.

Friday, 25—Vacation today.

SECOND SEMESTER

Monday, 28—First day of the second semester. Everybody is all mixed up—you know what I mean?

Tuesday, 29—Oh! Look at those preps! What are they doing in the boiler room?

Wednesday, 30—Have you had your schedule changed yet? If you haven't you will. Now did you hear that dreadful noise in convo. Mr. Hinshaw cut down the tardy list.

Thursday, 31—Wabash tomorrow night. Let's beat 'em.

NAUTILUS

in Room 214 today. That's a new thing in our school and the "A" students hope that service exams become an established custom from now on.

Thursday, 7—Delturian Club meeting tonight. Captain Aretz of the Shambaugh Airport, Pilot, will talk.

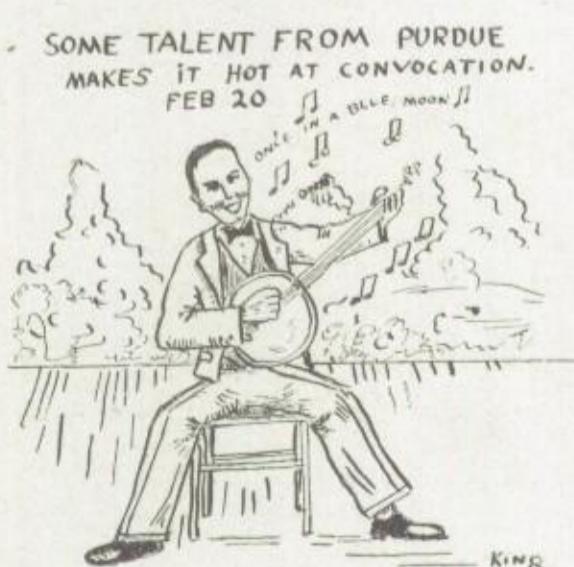

Thursday, 14—Don't everybody razz those Seniors, they really meant well.

Friday, 15—Be sure to see Jeff beat Lebanon tomorrow night.

Monday, 18—Gee! Jeff sure threw a score with Muncie Saturday night—the score was Muncie 23, Jeff 18.

Tuesday, 19—Blazes! It was warm today—almost like Spring.

Wednesday, 20—Some members of the Purdue Glee Club entertained us today—and they were really good.

FEBRUARY

Friday, 1—Well we started February off with a bang! The light fantastic toe was tripped at the Elephant Dance. Jeff plays Greenfield there tomorrow night.

Monday, 4—Jeff 13, Greenfield 29. A little tough luck, but this sounds better—Jeff beat Wabash.

Tuesday, 5—Did you fill out your study card? Don't forget to study!

Wednesday, 6—Civil Service Exams are being held in Room 214 today. That's a new thing in our school and the "A" students hope that service exams become an established custom from now on.

Thursday, 7—Delturian Club meeting tonight. Captain Aretz of the Shambaugh

Airport, Pilot, will talk.

Friday, 8—Huntington tonight and Muncie tomorrow. Let's help beat 'em by all being there.

Monday, 11—Jeff 46, Huntington 36. Jeff 18, Muncie 23. Leroy Wallace sure was hot in that Muncie game.

Tuesday, 12—Junior-Senior game tonight. See you there.

Wednesday, 13—Big fire drill. Good going out of the building except those in the "green house." They were scorched. Juniors 25, Seniors 13.

Thursday, 14—Don't everybody razz those Seniors, they really meant well.

Friday, 15—Be sure to see Jeff beat Lebanon tomorrow night.

Monday, 18—Gee! Jeff sure threw a score with Muncie Saturday night—the score was Muncie 23, Jeff 18.

Tuesday, 19—Blazes! It was warm today—almost like Spring.

Wednesday, 20—Some members of the Purdue Glee Club entertained us today—and they were really good.

Thursday, 21—A Special Car is going to Frankfort tomorrow night. See you there.

Friday, 22—Washington's Birthday and a free day. Hot Dawg!

Monday, 25—Jeff sure was off form—we lost to Frankfort 45-20 and to Tech 26-16.

Tuesday, 26—Did you notice Reed Keller—former 2nd teamster is now playing with the first team and starred at Tech.

Wednesday, 27—The team's blood is boiling now—lock out for them next week in the Sectional.

NAUTILUS

Thursday, 28—Buy your tickets for the Sectional! And watch those waxcinated arms.

MARCH

Friday, 1—Sectional Tournament starts today in our gym. No school of course—Jeff 25, Dayton 17. Jeff 23, Monitor 21. But OH my—wasn't the final game to West Point 29-23 tough luck, fellows.

Monday, 4—Today is Inauguration Day. Who knows but what some one from our midst may be President some day.

Tuesday, 5—Wonder how Mr. Hoover feels now?

Wednesday, 6—Senior Class Play cast chosen. James Hassett and Babe Bartee have the leads.

Thursday, 7—Shakespearian Play in Auditorium tonight. Get your tickets in the office.

Friday, 8—Jeff ran the relay race with West Side last night. Nice Going.

Monday, 11—Report cards tomorrow. Say, Bill Fisher is sure getting his work out in track.

Tuesday, 12—Reports today. Look out for the red ink!

Wednesday, 13—Pretty warm today. Such atmosphere is fatal for the raccoon coats, but all the better for the track team.

Thursday, 14—Delturian Club meeting tonight. Be there.

Friday, 15—Cafeteria closed today. Where will we eat?

Monday, 18—Are you going to sign up for the flag contest? Girls get your Jeff sweaters.

Tuesday, 19—The Track Team is practicing regularly in the gym. Fisher, Swezey, and Sullivan are left from last year.

Wednesday, 20—The Senior Play Cast met today. That means business.

Thursday, 21—Big basketball game in the gym this noon. Don't miss it!

Friday, 22—Senior Play practice tonight. First practice too. Miss Thomas is certainly on the job.

Monday, 25—Results of Latin Contest—First, Lois Jane Bryant and second Walter Keller.

Tuesday, 26—Sunshine election—President, Lois Jane Bryant. Vice-President—Dorothy Reynolds. Secretary—Marguerite Glenn.

Wednesday, 27—Spring Vacation this week end. Has the Spring Fever got you?

Thursday, 28—All excited over the spring vacation which starts tomorrow.

1929

NAUTILUS

APRIL

Tuesday, 2—Unsatisfactory notices to be out this week. Be careful.

Wednesday, 3—Local Oratorical Contest in Auditorium tonight. Big Musical Review in the gym tomorrow night. 994 young folks in it.

Thursday, 4—Good luck to the girls who are going to attend the Sunshine Convention tomorrow. Jim Hassett won the boys' side of the contest last night and Doris Hale won for the girls.

Friday, 5—Too many people whistling in the halls. Stop it or—

Monday, 8—The thinly clads lost their first Track meet to Delphi, 71-28. The affair wasn't as lopsided as the score makes it though.

Tuesday, 9—More track men are needed. Let's get out—some of you fast boys!

Wednesday, 10—Bob Limbert, famous trick shot artist, talked to us yesterday. He is certainly entertaining.

Thursday, 11—Mr. Limbert will give a shooting exhibition in the auditorium tonight. Don't forget to be there.

Friday, 12—Big Senior Dance tonight (and tomorrow morning). First Senior Dance in New Gym. Lots of room for everyone. George Comee will represent Tippecanoe County in the State Discussion League tonight.

Monday, 15—Jeff 32, Rensselaer 67. George Comee goes to State.

Tuesday, 16—The track men are just thawing out from last Saturday's meet.

Wednesday, 17—Pardon me if I say anything untrue in the Calendar from now on because this has to be written before any of it happens. You know, the best of Prophets make mistakes.

Thursday, 18—What time is it when one scratches his head? Five after one.

Friday, 19—Big meet tomorrow in Indianapolis with Shortridge and Bloomington. Good luck boys!

Monday, 22—Beginning of the last 6 weeks and when I say last I mean it.

Tuesday, 23—Report Cards. Well! I guess you'll stay home and study once in a while now!

Wednesday, 24—Herb Schaaf is resting up, recuperating or what have you—since the Nautilus work is over—for him.

Thursday, 25—Sponsor Group meetings. Be present and get some needful advice.

Friday, 26—Summer School Enrollment. Sign up to do penitence for those many wasted hours or should I have said days? With apologies to those who are ambitious.

Monday, 29—Back from Kokomo. The track men didn't get lost anyway.

NAUTILUS

Tuesday, 30—Enroll today for next semester.
Don't select anything "too hard".

MAY

Wednesday, 1—May Day. Now we wonder who put that basket on Mr. Hall's back door?

Thursday, 2—Don't forget to visit 114 this week. 200 masterpiece reproductions.

Friday, 3—Central Indiana Track and Oratorical meet at Lebanon tomorrow. Jim Hassett and Doris Hale—we wish you luck.

Monday, 6—Flag Essay Contest closes today. Hand in your essays.

Tuesday, 7—Concert by the High School Music Department tonight.

Wednesday, 8—Get your tickets for the Senior Play tomorrow night.

Thursday, 9—Senior Play tonight.

Monday, 13—Pretty warm but no excitement.

Tuesday, 14—Jupiter Ammon! but it's hot!

Wednesday, 15—Convocation today. Quite interesting.

Thursday, 16—Girls Gym classes will give free exhibition tomorrow night.

Friday, 17—State Track meet tomorrow at Indianapolis.

Monday, 20—Lots of fast time was made, so we hear.

Tuesday, 21—Tomorrow is Honor Day. See you on the stage. Oh! Yes!

Wednesday, 22—Honor Day. Oh, where'd you get the cute arm band.

Thursday, 23, and Friday, 24—Exhibit in the New Building. Lots of pretty things. Senior Auditorium also.

Monday, 27—Senior Exams began today. Oh! you lucky underclassmen!

Tuesday, 28—Still taking Exams.

Wednesday, 29—More examinations and renewed resolutions.

Thursday, 30—Memorial Day and of course on to Indianapolis!

Friday, 31—Last day of May. Getting quite sunburned these days—eh what?

JUNE

Monday, 3—Lots of good eats for the Seniors today at the Senior Breakfast.

Tuesday, 4—Finals for the underclassmen this week.

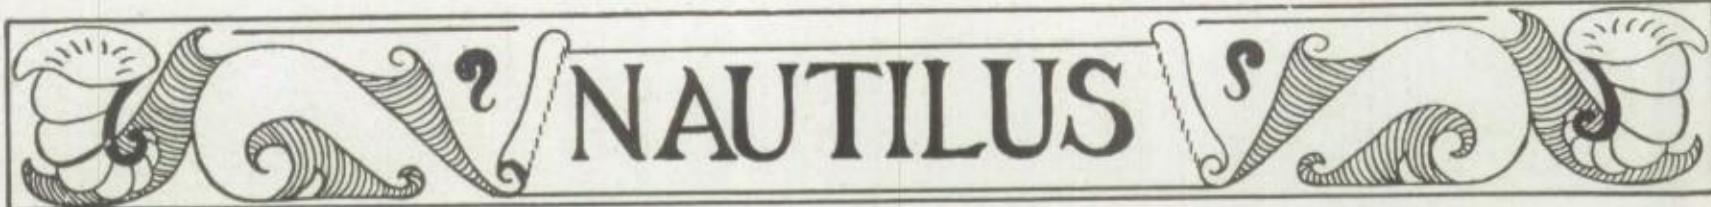

Wednesday, 5—See you at the Junior-Senior Picnic this afternoon.

Thursday, 6—Commencement n'everything.

Friday, 7—Goodbye—till next fall!

Methuselah ate what he found on his plate,
And never, as people do now,
Did he note the amount of calorie count,
He ate it because it was chow.
He wasn't disturbed as at dinner he sat,
Destroying a roast or a pie,
To think it was lacking in granular fat
Or a couple of vitamines shy;
He cheerfully chewed every species of food,
Untroubled by worries or fears,
Lest his health might be hurt by some fancy dessert,
And he lived over nine hundred years.

"The bulhouse is the schoolwork of civ—" The smile could be felt.
"The workhouse is the bulschool of—" He was evidently twisted.
"The schoolbul is the housework—" An audible snigger spread over the audience.
"The bulschool—" He was getting wild. So were his hearers. He mopped his perspiration, gritted his teeth, and made a fresh start.
"The schoolhouse, my friends—" A sigh of relief went up. Richard himself again!
He gazed serenely around. The light of triumphant self-confidence was enthroned upon his brow.
"Is the woolbark—" And that is when he lost consciousness.

Mrs. Abner Corliss has returned from her wedding trip.

Miss Clara Atkinson and her two children are visiting her mother over at Grayson Village.—Calabas Sentinel.

A Chicago kiddie recently "Stumped" his mother with this query: "What's the Mis?"

"The Mis, dear? I'm sure I don't know. Where did you hear about it?"

"At Sunday school. The superintendent said God made heaven and earth an' all that in the Miz!"

"I wonder why Miss Snow is such a social favorite?" said Mrs. Jenks. "She doesn't sing or play, or even recite."

"Well," returned Mr. Jenks, "probably that's the reason."

"You say that Miss Padds and Jack Pott are going to be married. Why, I didn't know they knew each other."

"They don't. That's why they are going to be married."

SKULLDUGGRY

Soph: When you sleep your noble brow reminds me of a story.

Frosh: What story? Sleeping Beauty?

Soph: No! Sleepy Hollow.

A pound of soil . . . contains 450 grams . . . one gram . . contains, on the average: 100,000,000 to 3,000,000,000 live bacteria, of many kinds; 10,000 to 1,000,000 fungous spores and pieces of mycelium; 10,000 to 20,000,000 actinmyces; 10,000 to 1,000,000 live protozoa. But besides all these there are many thousand algae cells and diatoms; in addition we find generally quite a lot of nematodes, rotifers, insect larvae, and so on.

Now, Willie, will you wash behind your ears??

THAT'S WHY WE NEED THE WAGES

Wages are admittedly high in the U. S. but so is the cost of living.

A SURE CURE

Does the sound of music make you start to tap your feet and to beat time with your fingers? Do you jump up to listen whenever a band goes by? Do you whistle arias at the opera or movies? Do your fingers itch to grab those drumsticks and join the orchestra at every dance? Send for our correspondence course in Discipline and Self Control!

THE REST OF 'EM

"You're charged with being drunk and disorderly," said the police justice to a man in a small town. "Have you anything to say?"

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn," began the prisoner in a flight of oratory. "I am not so ungrateful as Keats, so intemperate as Burns, so timid as Tennyson, so vulgar as Shakespeare, so—"

"That'll do, that'll do," interrupted the judge. "Seven days. And, officer, take down that list of names he mentioned and round the guys up. They all go together and from what he says they're almost as bad as he is."—Ladies Home Journal.

"Ha! ha! Excellent, but where do you really live, Miss Brown?"
"In the suburbs, Mr. Short."

Nearly every one of his friends had suffered from the caprice of the practical joker. Happily the joker had weak points of his own. One of them was a dislike for night. One morning about two o'clock there came a tremendous thumping at his front door. The joker hopped out of bed, opened his front window, and leaned out.

"In heaven's name, what is the matter?" he said.

"One of your windows is open," said a man on the sidewalk.

"Which one?" said the joker.

"The one you have stuck your head through," was the reply.

"One wife too many," exclaimed Mrs. Wederly, as she glanced at the headlines of her husband's paper. "I suppose that is an account of the doings of some bigamist?"

"Not necessarily, my dear," replied her husband, without daring to look up.

"How's the baby?" inquired the neighbor of the new father.

"Fine," said the proud parent.

"Don't you find that a baby brightens up a household wonderfully?" pursued the friend.

"Yes," said the parent, with a sigh.

"We have the gas going most of the night now."

She—"I appreciate the compliment, but I'm afraid I could never make you happy."

He—"Oh, yes, you could. You don't know how easily pleased I am."
